Facing Enemy Tanks

U. S. Air Might Aids Cambodians in Attack

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command sent scores of American warplanes into Cambodia Sunday and today to aid beleaguered Cambodian forces facing North Vietnamese tanks for the first time.

The command announced that U. S. Marine and Air Force jets flying from Bien Hoa Air Base, 15 miles northeast of Saigon, destroyed 14 Soviet T54 medium tanks along the Saigon-Phnom Penh Highway 14 miles inside the Cambodian border.

It was one of the biggest tank kills claimed in the four-month-old North Vietnamese offensive.

The tanks were knocked out as they tried to encircle the Cambodian town of Kompong Trabek, about 85 miles west of Saigon. The North Vietnamese appeared to be trying to secure the highway, a key route for troops and supplies to South Vietnam's northern Mekong Delta, where a big Communist buildup is reported under way.

In North Vietnam, U.S. Navy jets attacked the Loi Dong transshipment point and storage depot four miles northwest of Haiphong, and pilots reported their bombs set off large orange fireballs and blackened the area with thick smoke.

The U.S. Command said Air Force F4 phantoms beamed 2,000-pound laser bombs into three spans of the Cao Nung bypass bridge 48 miles northeast of Hanoi on the rail line to China. A spokesman said reconstruction of the bridge was near completion when the spans were knocked out. The bypass bridge had been destroyed earlier in the air campaign and the main bridge has been knocked out three times.

North Vietnam claimed six American planes were shot down Sunday, but the U.S. Command announced only one loss, a Navy A7 that was downed by an antiaircraft missile 20 miles northwest of Vinh. The pilot was rescued, the command said.

In ground action, South Vietnamese militiamen recaptured five hamlets near Hue today and Sunday in fighting that caused severe civilian casualties. Farther north, North Vietnamese artillery barrages continued to inflict heavy losses on South Vietnamese marines at Quang Tri.

A battalion of more than 100 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong occupied the five hamlets 10 miles southeast of Hue before dawn Sunday. Government militiamen recaptured one of the villages Sunday afternoon, three more during the night and the fifth this morning.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported that at least 18 civilians were killed and 14 wounded in one hamlet alone.

Violence in Ireland In Spiraling Trend

BELFAST (AP) — Two British soldiers and a youth were killed early Monday as the violence in Northern Ireland increased again, bringing the three-year death toll close to the 500 mark.

The Catholic guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army were reported to have regrouped following the British Army's sweep into their barricaded strongholds in Belfast and Londonderry last week.

Troops manning an army post in Belfast came under fire from an anti-tank bazooka and immediately raided nearby homes in the Andersonstown area but failed to locate the weapon.

Two soldiers were killed and two others were injured when their armored jeep was hurled into a ditch by a mine on a country road in County Fermanagh, near the border.

In Belfast, the body of a youth of about 17 was found on a street, apparently the victim of an assassination squad. He was not immediately identified, but both Catholic and Protestant execution squads have been active in Belfast in recent days.

The three deaths raised the confirmed fatality toll in Ulster since August 1969 to 492, with 283 of them recorded this year.

The IRA's militant Provisional wing warned that its members are ready to resume operations after a lull. Guerrillas who took refuge across the border in the Irish republic last week were reported filtering back into the Londonderry area.

Catholic resentment triggered a major riot in Belfast when a mob stormed an army post in a sports ground, tore down an iron fence with their hands, set an armored car ablaze and stoned troops.

Democrats Begin Unique Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee today opens an extraordinary three-day meeting to nominate a running-mate for presidential candidate George McGovern.

But first the party must decide a number of seating disputes, and probably one involving a slate headed by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley.

Chicago Alderman William S. Singer, who led a successful fight to unseat the Daley delegation at the Democratic National Convention in Miami Beach last month, said he would file a challenge today against the mayor's Illinois slate of committee members.

Some forces in the party were talking of a compromise that would avoid antagonizing Daley again. Daley, who has not been an avid McGovern backer, has welcomed McGovern's recommendation of Sargent Shriver as the vice-presidential nominee.

Challenges have been filed by dissidents in Wisconsin, New Jersey, Ohio and Virginia, and New York Democrats have been given until midnight tonight to say whether they plan to lodge a challenge with the nine-member Credentials Committee.

The full national committee meets at 2 p.m. Tuesday to nominate a replacement for Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton. He quit the ticket July 31 because of the public discussion arising out of his disclosure that he had undergone shock treatment for mental depression in the 1960s.

The fight over seating the Illinois members of the national committee stems directly from the Miami Beach convention where Singer's 59-member group replaced Mayor Daley's delegation.

Under the new rules by which the Democratic National Committee was expanded from 110 to 303 members, members are chosen by the state's delegation to the previous national convention or, in some states, by joint action of the convention delegates and the state executive committee.

The complication in Illinois is that, although the Singer slate was seated at Miami Beach, a Cook County judge last week ousted Singer's challenge group from the Illinois convention which was choosing DNC members and put Daley's forces back into the delegation.

Challenges Begin

Credential challenges involving some committee members were first up on the schedule of the Democratic National Committee today which met in extraordinary session to ratify George McGovern's selection of Sargent

Shriver as a running mate. The first challenge involved Wisconsin. Here, Michael Bleicher, Madison, stands to defend himself against an objection by Donald Peterson, Eau Claire, seated.

Firemen Demand Faces Council

The city council will attempt to iron out the one remaining wrinkle in its proposed wage and work conditions agreement with city firemen when it meets at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the council chambers of city hall.

At issue is the matter of salary rates for holidays and overtime. The firemen feel holiday pay should cover a 24 hour period. The City favors paying on a 12 hour basis.

At a closed meeting July 25 the council and firemen arrived at a compromise compact calling for:

- ✓ An additional 5.5 per cent wage hike effective Jan. 1, 1973.
- ✓ An increase in life insurance from the present amount of $2,000 to $5,000.
- ✓ Two additional holidays (Washington's birthday and the employee's birthday). This will create a total of nine yearly holidays.
- ✓ A minimum of four hours overtime pay at 1.5 times the regular salary rate.

It was also agreed that a study of the firemen's pension plan be made to determine its financial condition in order to determine the source and amount of additional revenue if it is needed.

Among the firemen's requests eliminated from the formal resolution were a clothing and commissary allowance, a contract between the city and firemen and a proposal relating to hours of work.

A copy of the proposed resolution including all the above named agreements and omissions has been prepared by City Clerk Ralph Dedrick. A blank has been left for the filling in of a holiday and overtime pay figure which hopefully will be arrived at tonight.

Mayor Jerry Jones said Monday he does not foresee the Council backing down on their stand. Robert Vogler, president of the International Association of Firefighters local 823, was unavailable for comment.

In other council business, City License Inspector Bob Brown Monday said he will discuss the current status of the city ambulance license ordinance. The license requirement is currently being contested by Kenneth Wasson, operator of Pettis County Ambulance Co.

Wasson has refused to pay the $25 tax required by law. City Counselor Bob Fritz said a decision by Attorney General John Danforth on the legality of the city measure is expected in about 40 days.

Brown said his discussion is not related to the current ambulance license controversy.

The council will also act on a request for a package liquor license renewal by W. E. Bingaman, for Bing's Rexall Drug, 14th and Limit.

Disease Is Common With More Weight

Dear Dr. Lamb — The current argument at our house is the relationship between hypertension and the incidence of obesity. The arguments have now evolved to include strokes, coronaries and diabetes. My contention is that obesity predisposes to all of the above mentioned, but my husband knows several thin people with high blood pressure, and never believes anything I say on general principles, so I am unable to convince him there is any relationship. Please comment on this for us.

Dear Reader — I hate to interject myself into the fun and games of the limited warfare of marriage, but medical science is on your side. Most problems that occur because of high blood pressure are caused by fatty deposits in the arteries (atherosclerosis). This is how high blood pressure causes strokes. Both strokes and coronaries are caused by atherosclerosis. One simply involves the arteries to the brain and the other the arteries to the heart.

While there are many exceptions, which explains why your husband is making his accurate observation, as a group people who are overweight have a higher incidence of atherosclerosis and a higher incidence of diabetes. There are some fat people, however, who don't have any of these things and there are some skinny people who do. If it were as simple as looking at a person to see if he was fat or not doctors wouldn't have to do any laboratory tests or a lot of other studies that are commonly done.

Nevertheless, obesity is associated with an increased incidence of a host of medical problems including strokes, coronaries, diabetes and even postoperative complications to a hysterectomy or a gallbladder operation. There is hardly anything that obesity helps unless it is survival in the arctic. The reason life insurance companies want to know how much a person weighs is because the fat person has a greater likelihood of a medical disorder or early death than the individual of normal weight.

Dear Doctor Lamb — I was interested in your column about removing acne scars. I don't know any plastic surgeons and am hesitant about choosing one from the phone book. Can you recommend someone?

Dear Reader — You're wise not to choose one from a telephone book. You want a plastic surgeon who does cosmetic surgery. To be certain he has a good professional standing, you should write the county medical society and ask them for a recommendation. If you are in a small county and live next to a large city, which seems from the rest of your letter to be the case, write to the county medical society of the city that you plan on going to for consultation. If a person lived near Chicago, for example, he might want to write to the Cook County Medical Society for their recommendations for a cosmetic surgeon in the Chicago area.

The best way to find a specialist for a specific problem is to ask your doctor, if you have one. If you don't, you should get one.

Renewing Efforts In River Search

COLUMBUS, Ill. (AP) — Efforts were to be renewed on the Mississippi River today to recover the body of a 22-year-old East Prairie, Mo., man and at least one other person.

Mississippi County, Mo., authorities said a St. Louis diver had come upon an additional body while searching the river Sunday for Randy Nowalls of East Prairie, believed to have drowned the day before.

David Cole of St. Louis told authorities clothing on a man whose body he found at the Missouri side of the river under piling bore the name "Ed Grimes" sewn on the inside of the trousers.

Cole also told authorities he found another body in the river and did not believe it to be that of Nowalls. Neither body was retrieved when darkness approached Sunday night.

Authorities said Nowalls jumped from a truck on the Columbus-Belmont ferry late Saturday, telling his father-in-law and another relative he was going to swim 150 feet to shore.

Soak Frame To Straighten It

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY and Mrs. J. M. T., who has a warped picture frame she wishes to straighten—Remove the picture, soak the frame in steaming hot water in a tub or wrap towels around it and pour hot water on it until the wood is thoroughly soaked. (Polly's note—Of course, you will consider the finish on the frame, as some might come out a bit worse from soaking.) Clamp the sides down to a flat surface with vises and leave until completely dry. Hard wood may not flatten out but soft wood should. —AN ARTIST

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Can someone tell me how to remove a letter "G" that was stamped upside down on a permanently pressed pillowcase that I want to embroider?—CECELIA

DEAR POLLY—I have two Pet Peeves. One is with material used for binding on blankets. The blankets stay looking good as new but after a time the binding splits in the center and starts coming apart so the blankets look shabby unless the binding is replaced.

Also, I get peeved with potato bags that do not have a mesh front so I can see what I am buying. Often they are bought and brought home and the potatoes found to be not only muddy but many are bad.—HELEN

DEAR POLLY—We feed many of the men who work on our ranch at certain times and I have come up with an idea the men like and that helps me keep the washbowl spotless, too. I buy a sponge, 3x5x2 inches, carve out a place in the center just large enough to hold a bar of soap that has borax in it. After the men have washed, I go over the bowl with the wet, soapy sponge, rinse both bowl and sponge and they are clean and ready to use again. Do hope this helps the wives of other ranchers and it would be equally as good to use when there are children in the house. —MRS. S. E. L.

DEAR POLLY—When sewing on the new double-knit fabrics, I sew with a light zigzag stitch which allows for pulling and stretching the seams without having them pop out. This has proven to be a real time-saver for me. —BARB

DEAR POLLY—Pedestal-type cake plates can do double duty by simply inverting the plate, putting water in the hollow stem and then adding a few flowers. Cupcakes, cookies or doughnuts can be placed in a ring around the lower portion of the plate to make a very attractive centerpiece. —VERNA

Vietnam Is Topic of ABWA

Capt. Clinton A. Murphy, Headquarters Squadron Section Wing commander from Whiteman AFB addressed members of the Sedalia charter chapter of the American Business Women's Association Tuesday at Flat Creek Inn.

On the topic Vietnam, Murphy informed members of the historic, cultural and geographical uniqueness of the Vietnam area.

Twenty-one month veteran of service in Vietnam, Murphy told the group that the Vietnamese have been involved in conflicts for the major part of the past 2,000 years.

Politically, the North and South Vietnamese are "unresolvably separate," according to Capt. Murphy. "People in the South want to escape the North's domination. The Southerners have a tradition of not wanting to be North Vietnamese and have fled or migrated to the South to escape. Despite this animosity between the North and South Vietnamese, the North feels they are destined to control the South," he said.

Murphy was introduced by Mrs. Earl McClanahan.

Mrs. David Bear presided at the business meeting and announced that the fall enrollment party would be held Sept. 21 at the Ramada Inn.

Mrs. Elsie Smethers, employed at Taystee Thrift Shop gave the vocational talk and Mrs. Carl Birdno, sponsored by Mrs. Forrest Kappelman, was installed as a new member.

Mrs. Don Kuhlman was appointed recording secretary to replace Mrs. Norman Capps who resigned and it was announced that a farewell picnic honoring Mrs. Muriel Wetzler would be held Aug. 15 at Liberty Park.

Mrs. Nick Bryan gave the benediction.

Summer Scent Is Light, Lingering

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Women are so often dazzled and confused by the variety of choices offered them when selecting a fragrance that many leave the buying up to someone else. Industry reports that 75 per cent of all fragrances are purchased as gifts — which could mean there are a great many women who may not be getting what they want in a scent.

One noted perfume house, long a leader in introducing new fragrances to the American women, not only realized this problem but did something about it.

Prince Matchabelli decided to go first to the consumer — the fragrance consumer — the fragrance wearer — and ask her what she wanted. Extensive research in-depth interviews, plus the actual testing of various scents revealed that women wanted a new kind of warm weather fragrance — especially one that was longer lasting.

Women of all ages across the country were queried. Words such as "natural," "outdoorsy," or "light and fresh," were consistently prominent throughout the study. Many women complained that light fragrances already available lasted only a short time, then vanished. They wanted a scent that was light but lingering.

The survey also delved into the preference of names, and colors and packaging desired. And based on the analysis of this exploratory research — the consumers' demands — the company experts created a fragrance that could be just what women wanted. Sun shower, the result, is a new fragrance that's refreshing as a mountain stream. It's a citrus-floral body scenter specially formulated to be both light and lasting.

And because women said they wanted to splash on the new scent from tip to toe, that's how it was formulated — as a body splash cologne and spray mist cologne to use all over.

Women also asked for fragrance products that complement each other. Therefore, the collection also includes a soothing moisturizing lotion and a silkened power shaker talc. It's a complete fragrance wardrobe.

The new collection comes in easy-to hold bottles that are packaged and portable for travel.

So if you want a new scent for summer and beyond, it's here. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Girls Handle Navy Boat Garden Club

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Women drivers are not unusual—except when the vehicle happens to be a Navy boat. The Navy recently assigned, on a trial basis, three women to the tour boats going to the USS Arizona Memorial.

"It's just like driving a car," said Seaman Apprentice Terry J. Schorsch, 19. She, Seaman Helen D. Sheppard, 23, and Seaman Apprentice Judy A. East, 19, are line-handlers and coxswains-in-training on the 64-foot passenger barges. They fasten the lines of the boats to the pier and steer the boats around the harbor.

None had prior experience in working with boats, and all three had trouble making a smooth docking at the pier. "I kept running into the pier," Miss Schorsch said. "I didn't bump into it, I crashed into it." But their supervisor, Boatswain's Mate First Class Edward Smith said the women are "doing a good job and show a great deal of enthusiasm."

"The first day they got here, I told them I expected them to do everything, including running the boat," Smith said.

He admitted he didn't like the idea at first, but now wouldn't mind a female crew. "If they can do the job, I'm all for it," he said.

The three young women probably became the first women in the Navy to design their own uniforms. Miss East made the outfits of white blouses and navy blue culottes, which are worn with blue knee socks and

BILL MORRIS

THE DEMOCRAT FOR GOVERNOR

Bill Morris is a man who has made his own way up through the ranks of public service. He has been a consistent winner right from his very first election, and if you ask him why, he will tell you it is because he has always taken his case to the people.

Bill was born in Higginsville. He worked his way through high school and entered the United States Army as a private in 1942.

He came up through the ranks to be discharged as a major in 1946. Bill spent 31 months in the South Pacific, including the battles of the Philippines and New Guinea, and was one of seven officers selected to accept the surrender of the Japanese forces in Korea at the end of the war. Included among Bill's military decorations are the Silver Star, Bronze Star and the Air Medal.

After the war, Bill, with the help of the G. I. Bill, worked his way through law school and has been a member of the Missouri Bar since 1948.

He has been married for 30 years to the former Lucile Albers of Higginsville, and they have a daughter, Lisa, age 14.

Bill has traveled every county in Missouri—not just during the campaign—but many times during the past few years. He has met face to face with literally thousands of Missourians and it is this closeness to the people that has given him a thorough understanding of their needs and problems.

Bill knows the people and the people know him. They know he has been on the firing line. They see in Bill a man who could get things changed and move Missouri forward.

Open Door Business Succeeding

Thousands of articles of clothing have been sold at the Open Door Service Center, 109 West Main, since its opening June 8, according to Mrs. D. R. Miller, manager. The not-for-profit thrift shop is operated by Poverty Action Corps, an inter-church service organization in Sedalia.

Mrs. Miller pointed out that after paying the rent and utilities for the building, profits have so far been given for charitable purposes based on referrals from the Pettis County Welfare Office, public health nurse and area ministers. "So far we have donated nearly $250 to the poor, besides giving away pieces of clothing," she pointed out.

Mrs. Leanna Horn, a volunteer who works at the center, said that the thrift shop is meeting the needs of many Pettis Countyans for inexpensive, used clothes.

On the average, she said, about 100 persons visit the store daily. The store is manned by from two to six volunteers from various churches. More volunteers are needed to sort, clean and price men's, women's and children's wear. Mrs. Horn added.

The store sells men's clothes and bed sheets more than any other item and "we need more clothing badly," Mrs. Miller said, urging area residents to donate used clothing.

The shop, which is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays, sells clothing and household articles at giveaway prices.

The store even participated in the downtown merchants' sidewalk sale when the giveaway prices were further slashed. Mrs. Miller pointed out.

Teen-ager Injured In 'Cycle Mishap

A Sedalia teen-ager was treated and released at Bothwell Hospital Sunday evening for injuries he received as the result of a motorcycle-car accident at 16th and Limit.

Robert Dale Sizemore, 17, Route 3, the driver of the motorcycle, received minor cuts and bruises to his legs, a hospital spokesman said.

According to police, the accident occurred when a 1969 Chevrolet driven by Wesley H. Swift, 68, of 920 West Seventh, pulled out of the McDonald's restaurant parking lot onto Limit and collided with the 1970 motorcycle driven by Sizemore.

Swift was summoned on a charge of failure to yield the right of way. He pleaded guilty to the charge in Sedalia police court Monday and was fined $10. Judge Lawrence England, however, stayed the fine.

Man Fined In Shooting Incident

A Sedalia man was fined $50 in Sedalia police court Monday on a charge of discharging a firearm within city limits. The charge and fine stem from an incident last month in which a Sedalia motorist reportedly was the recipient of gunfire while in his car at Third and Limit.

The defendant, Paul E. Root, 2207 West Second street Terr., pleaded not guilty to the charge. He testified that he shot one round of blank ammunition from a "starter's" pistol after persons in a car driven by Bernard Bay, 20, of 2412 West Third, allegedly made an obscene gesture to him.

Bay testified that he did not see Root discharge a firearm, but said that he saw a flash of fire, which he believed to be gunfire, come from the silver Vega stationwagon Root reportedly was driving.

Root's attorney, James Buckley, argued that the "starter's" pistol which Root admitted he fired is not a firearm according to the city ordinance concerning firearms.

Judge Lawrence England, however, ordered Root to pay the $50 fine.

Buckley indicated he will file an appeal motion.

Two other similar automobile shootings were reported to police last month. No arrests have been made in connection with those shootings.

Beginning Audits Of Business Firms

City License Inspector Bob Brown Monday announced he has begun his annual audit of city business firms.

Brown said the purpose of the audit was to check for possible discrepancies between the amount of gross revenue reported by a firm on its application for a city merchant's license and the amount it actually recorded.

The audit will cover the period from June 1, 1971 to May 31, 1972.

Brown will inspect 50 businesses in the next few weeks. Records are made available to him by the various firms' auditors or bookkeepers, he said.

The annual audits replace the former sporadic spot checks of city business firms which were held up until last year.

Accidents Decrease From Pace Last Year

Sedalia police have investigated fewer accidents during the first seven months of 1972 than at a year ago this time, police records indicate.

A total of 499 accidents were investigated by Sedalia police from January through July this year. A total of 113 injuries were reported.

Last year at this time police had investigated 522 accidents, involving 146 injuries and two deaths. One pedestrian death has been recorded this year.

The statistics show that police investigated 60 accidents involving 23 injuries during the past month. A year ago in July police investigated 86 accidents in which 29 injuries were reported.

To Close Meeting

The scheduled meeting between law enforcement officials in Pettis County and the owners of the three local ambulance companies will be closed to the public, Pettis County Prosecuting Attorney Adam Fischer said Monday.

The meeting, which probably will be held later this week or early next week, will attempt to head off possible problems between the companies.

Offices To Close

All city offices will be closed Tuesday, Ralph Dedrick, city clerk, said Monday.

All county offices, with the exception of the county clerk's office, and the state license bureau also will be closed on the state and local primary election date.

Begin Debate Over Handguns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate starts debate today on a bill to halt the sale of small handguns known as "Saturday night specials."

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief sponsor of the measure, said "it would take out of the marketplace the weapons used most frequently by criminals."

A substitute by Sen. Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., would totally ban private ownership of handguns and require that the estimated 25 million such weapons now in circulation be turned over to the government in exchange for their fair market value.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said he would try to amend Bayh's bill to require registration of all firearms and licensing of gun owners.

Neither Hart's substitute nor Kennedy's amendment appears to have any chance of Senate acceptance.

Long

On the local level, Pettis County Democrats will have a greater choice of candidates than their Republican counterparts with 20 candidates from which to choose, compared to nine for the Republicans.

In two races this year, the incumbent candidates were appointed to their positions after the death of their predecessors elected in 1970. They are B. A. "Bunny" Fischer, a Democrat named presiding judge of the Pettis County Court following the death in February of Republican Jim Green, and Mrs. Naomi Brown a Democrat, appointed as recorder of deeds to succeed Reno Johnson, who also died in February.

Fischer is unopposed in the primary. Seeking to replace him in the general election are Republicans Glen E. Lower, owner and president of Lower's Moving and Storage, Inc., and Harry W. Walch, a flour broker.

In the eastern district, incumbent E. L. "Red" Birdsong, seeking his 11th term, is opposed in the primary by Bennie B. Hatfield, who works for the Yellow Cab Co. On the Republican side, Fred Kraft, manager of Baceless Inc., an asphalt company, is vying with Jack Sheldy, a realtor, for the nomination.

Three Democrats and one Republican are competing to serve as western district judge to replace Zeb Thomas, who is stepping down after serving three terms.

Howard Blakely and Ellis Ulmer, both farmers, and Chester Feaster, a farmer and stockman, are the three Democratic nominees. John F. Bluhm Jr., a dairy farmer, is the lone Republican candidate.

Among county offices, perhaps the most interest this year has focused on the race for the assessor's office. Incumbent Jerry Trotter, seeking his sixth term, faces strong primary challenges from Mrs. Leanna Horn and Charles "Chuck" Stockstill.

Mrs. Horn, a legal secretary and frequent critic of the assessor's office, is running on a "change, progress and improvement" platform. Chairman of the city Democratic committee, Stockstill's slogan is "It's time for a change."

Trotter had defended his operation of the assessor's office, and maintained that a general reassessment of the county should await the county's elevation to second class status in a few years.

William P. McCune, a salesman for Niagra Therapy Co., and Albert W. Newman, a local real estate broker, seek the Republican nod for assessor.

The county coroner's contest shapes up as a contest only on the Democratic side where Dr. John Owens, a pathologist, is opposing Kenneth Joe Wasson, owner of the Pettis County Ambulance Service. In this race, Dr. James Houchens, a chiropractor, is the sole Republican contender.

In a more congested field of candidates, incumbent Mrs. Naomi Brown is being challenged in her bid for a full term as county recorder of deeds by Ivan Grimes, "Davey" C. E. Jones and Carl Walker. Grimes is associated with the Skelly Oil Co., Jones is employed by American Bakery and Walker is a painting contractor. Thomas J. Miller, running unopposed for the Republican nomination, is a locomotive foreman on the Missouri Pacific Railroad.

In the race for county sheriff, the Democratic primary winner is assured victory in November, with no Republican running against him. In this contest, incumbent Emmett Fairfax is seeking his fourth term. Opposing him is Jack M. Austin, a degree holder in Criminal Justice Administration from Central Missouri State University.

Missouri Historian Is Dead

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Floyd Calvin Shoemaker, who made history as the chief recorder of Missouri's history for more than 50 years, has died.

The long-time secretary and librarian of the Missouri Historical Society died at his home in Columbia Sunday. He was 86.

The funeral will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday. Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, members of the Missouri Squires and leaders at the University of Missouri have been designated honorary pallbearers.

Shoemaker had been secretary emeritus and consultant to the Missouri Historical Society since May of 1960, when he retired on his 50th anniversary as a member of its staff. For 45 of those years, he was secretary and librarian.

During that span, the society grew from 400 to 12,000 members the largest in the country. Shoemaker edited 45 volumes of the Missouri Historical Review, which had the largest circulation of any state historical magazine in the country. The society's library is considered one of the finest.

The fuse on the dynamite reportedly was lit, but only half of it had burned. It is not known whether the fuse was extinguished or whether it failed to burn.

Accident Is Fatal To Youth

(Democrat-Capital Service)

MARSHALL — A Saline County youth was killed early Sunday morning when an auto in which he was traveling went out of control on Highway 41 about three miles north of here.

Killed was James Vernon Davis, 14, Miami, who was ejected from a 1965 Ford driven north by Gary Lee Cartee, 19, also of Miami. Cartee apparently lost control of his car at a high rate of speed, went off the right side of the pavement, and skidded some 375 feet before hitting a concrete drain pipe, the Highway Patrol reported.

Ejected from the auto along with the other two occupants was William McDaniel, 23, Miami, who suffered lacerations, abrasions, and a skull fracture, the patrol said.

Cartee received numerous bruises and contusions.

In connection with another weekend accident, a Morgan County man was listed as improved at Bothwell Hospital after a car-pedestrian mishap at 1:30 a.m. Saturday about two miles south of the southern junction of Highway 5 and Route TT near Gravois Mills.

Injured in the accident was the pedestrian, Phillip Wade Mabrey, 23, Versailles, who was walking north on the right shoulder of the highway. He was struck by a 1965 Chevrolet driven north by Roy Coontz, 36, Versailles, the patrol reported.

According to the patrol Mabrey walked into the path of the Coontz auto and was hit, suffering minor injuries. He was taken to the Gunn Clinic and later transferred to Bothwell Hospital.

McGovern Has Obtained Endorsements of Labor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has picked up endorsements for his Democratic bid for the White House from leaders of labor unions with 6 million workers, while President Nixon has the backing of labor chiefs representing 24 million, an Associated Press survey shows.

Leaders of the nation's remaining 10 million union workers and AFL-CIO President George Meany are sitting on the fence for the first time in nearly two decades.

But labor-political experts draw widely differing views on the value of labor's political endorsements when the average worker closes the curtain in the polling booth.

"Anybody who thinks we're monolithic and that our members are going to vote a certain way just because we say so is crazy," said a spokesman for the 900,000-member AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, whose executive board endorsed McGovern.

President Frank E. Fitzsimmons of the 2.1-million-member Teamsters, the nation's largest union, contends labor leaders exert considerable influence on the votes of their members.

"We wouldn't represent more than 2 million workers if we didn't," said Fitzsimmons, whose union has endorsed Nixon.

But, he added, there's no such thing as "delivering" a bloc labor vote.

Regardless of how many union members follow their leaders' political recommendations, the AFL-CIO's decision to endorse neither White House contender is certain to hurt McGovern.

The AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education is generally said to be worth some $10 million to a presidential candidate—partly in money, but mostly in the nationwide voluntary manpower of union workers who conduct voter-registration drives and help candidates friendly to labor.

"We figure that out of every 10 union members and their families that we get registered to vote, eight will follow the political endorsements of their union leaders," said an AFL-CIO spokesman.

AFL-CIO and its COPE operation, which have backed every previous Democratic presidential contender since the labor federation was formed in 1955, was generally credited with almost pulling Hubert H. Humphrey through to victory in his 1968 race against Nixon.

Meany predicted that because of the split in labor's ranks over this year's presidential race, only about 20 per cent of the AFL-CIO's 116 unions will endorse either candidate.

So far, 14 AFL-CIO unions with a total of about 4.5 million members and the independent United Auto Workers with 1.5 million members have endorsed McGovern, while three AFL-CIO unions and one independent union have joined the independent Teamsters in backing Nixon.

Bendix Workers Ratify Contract

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Employees of the Bendix Corporation's Kansas City division ratified a three-year contract with the company Sunday to replace a pact which expired at midnight.

William Seiger, business agent for the International Association of Machinists, said about 2,500 of the 3,200 workers attended the ratification meeting. Sources said the vote was close.

William Shap, Bendix industrial relations director, said the contract calls for an immediate pay raise of 19 cents an hour this year, 22 cents the next, and 23 cents the last year of the pact.

Also included in the contract were improvements in vacation, pension and insurance benefits.

In 1872 Yellowstone National Park became a national park and the world's first big public wildlife refuge.

Unique Wedding

Seventy-five couples in granny dresses and bib overalls circle in a "dance of love" during a mass wedding ceremony in a sawdust-filled arena at Synanon Ranch near Marshall, Calif., Sunday. The couples, wed by a top-hatted

Presbyterian minister, are members of the Synanon Foundation, which houses 1,700 persons in communes along the coast of California. Most are former drug addicts.

75 Couples

Big California Wedding

BOLINAS, Calif. (AP) — As a 15-piece band belted out rock music and wedding waltzes, 75 young couples, many of them former drug addicts, tied the knot at a mass wedding ceremony.

The marriage festival was staged Sunday at the Synanon ranch in the golden hills of Northern California. The ceremony took place at a riding ring.

The brides and grooms were residents of Synanon centers throughout California, as were most of their 2,000 guests.

Synanon Foundation Inc., most widely known for its efforts to rehabilitate drug addicts, has set up seven living groups in California and Michigan.

Though most Synanon residents are former addicts and alcoholics, some have joined the groups because they wanted to take part in the communal life style.

All the couples had been legally married in the past year, but none had a wedding ceremony. They said they waited until it could be performed before the Synanon community.

"These kids shared their hell with the community when they were going off drugs," said one Synanon resident. "Now they want to share their happiness."

The wedding festival had a 19th-century nostalgic touch. The brides wore picture hats and long, old-fashioned summer gowns of muslin, linen and chintz. Some twirled parasols.

The grooms, sporting new-grown beards, wore starched denim overalls and dress shirts, with carnations in their buttonholes.

The guests, also attired in 1800s dress, watched from bleachers as the wedding began with a flourish of trumpets.

Eleven horsemen galloped down from a nearby hill and paraded around the oval ring.

A 100-voice choir, made up of young addicts recently arrived at Synanon to kick their habit, sang "Shenandoah."

Then came the wedding march.

Arm in arm, the couples strolled around the ring, smiling and waving at cheering friends and family.

The frivolity ended when the Rev. C. Mason Harvey, in top hat and tails, mounted a podium and started the ceremony.

"Marriage means 'to be joined with.' We also join with you," he said. "We say to you that we care for you, we love you."

The couples formed three circles and danced a minuet and the ceremony was over — almost. The guests took their turn.

They jumped off the bleachers and gathered in the middle of the ring, swaying in unison to the throbbing of hard rock music.

The couples and their guests stood in line for the wedding feast, which included 600 pounds of beef, three lambs and a pig.

There was wedding cake, ice cream and nonalcoholic drinks.

Members and guests welcome.

FOOD & FIBER NEWS

University of Missouri Extension Centers
Henry - Johnson - Lafayette - Pettis

LLOYD LEWELLEN
Area Extension Manager

There have been numerous inquiries about blister beetles feeding on the leaves of potatoes and tomatoes in home gardens. They will also feed on the tomato fruit. Both the gray and brown striped species are present in many cases. These pests will completely defoliate the host plants in a very short time unless control measures are taken.

A spray of carbaryl or malathion will control these insects. There is no preharvest interval required with this dosage of carbaryl on potatoes or tomatoes. There is a 1-day preharvest interval with this dosage of malathion on tomatoes.

Hornworms on Tomatoes

Large green worms with white slant marks on the sides and the reddish horn on the rear extremity have been reported causing serious defoliation of tomatoes. These hornworms, ranging in length up to three or four inches, are the immature form of a large hawk moth.

They not only feed on the leaves of the plant but will eat the softer stems and the green fruit.

Hand picking will take care of a light infestation of these worms. A spray of carbaryl or methoxychlor will control heavier infestations.

Fall Webworm

The webs of the fall webworm are appearing on pecan, walnut, hickory and a few shade trees over the state. The webs are still small and can be easily removed by hand. A spray of toxaphene or carbaryl will control the pest.

Cattle Report

The USDA Report cattle on feed July 1 has good news for consumers, but it caused some alarm among the nation's beef producers. The report showed 14 per cent more than a year before; furthermore, the number of heavy cattle was up 30 per cent.

Consumers will get a record supply of beef. Fortunately for cattlemen, the increase in beef will be less than 30 per cent, and even less than 14 per cent. Then, too, a large part of any increase in beef will be offset by smaller supplies of pork and by greater consumer demand.

A substantial part of the increase in the number of cattle in the feedlots reflects longer feeding periods, rather than more cattle moving in and out. This is shown by the fact that the largest increases were in the heaviest and lightest weight groups. The longer feeding periods add to feedlot occupancy without a corresponding increase in the total number of cattle fattened in a year.

A substantial part of the expected increase in the beef supply will be offset by stronger demand. We have more people, with a lot more money to spend this year. The population is up about one per cent. The number of persons on payrolls is up three per cent. Average earnings recently were $134 a week, up seven per cent.

A part of the increase in beef will be offset by a smaller output of pork, which is expected to continue at five to seven per cent below the 1971 level. Broiler supplies, however, may be up three to five per cent.

Imports of beef will not increase much. There is no country where we can buy choice steaks and roasts. If imports of beef for processing are increased by 20 per cent, which is doubtful, this would only provide an extra half a pound of hamburger for each person by the end of the year.

Corn

Corn acreage for Missouri for 1972 is estimated at 2.7 million. This would be the lowest harvested acres on record since 1870. Even if the record yield of 88 bushels per acre of land year were repeated, production would be only 220 million — 52 million less than the 1971 crop. The condition of the Missouri corn crop is below the same time last year, so a figure of 200 million might be a good estimate at this time.

Grain Sorghum

The acreage of grain sorghum planted in Missouri is estimated at 430,000 acres, a drastic reduction of 42 per cent from the 740,000 acres planted last year. Production in 1972 is likely to be only about half of the record production of 48 million bushels last year.

Fertilizer for Bluegrass Bluegrass is best seeded from Aug. 20 to Sept. 10. In low fertility soils, superphosphate and muriate or sulfate or potash may be added at a rate of 6.5

pounds per 1,000 square feet of lawn area.

Enough limestone should be added to bring the soil pH up to 6.0 and 6.5 as based on a soil test. Mix these materials in the top four to six inches of soil.

Level the soil, and immediately before seeding or sodding, broadcast and mix eight to 10 pounds of fertilizer into the top inch of soil. The fertilizer should be 12-12-12 or similar analysis per 1,000 square feet or area.

This started fertilization will last only about two months. Then about a pound of actual nitrogen per thousand square feet of bluegrass should be applied with a good lawn fertilizer.

No-Frost Refrigerator

Modern refrigerators and freezers with an automatic self defrosting (no-frost) feature have several advantages over other types.

Food does not thaw or become warm as it often does during manual defrosting.

Food packages are less likely to stick together in freezers.

Water does not drip over food stored below the freezer unit.

Self defrosting is especially desirable in Missouri where high atmospheric humidity adds to the frost accumulation potential in refrigerators and freezers.

One hears that self defrosting units cost more to operate. In most cases it will take about 25 per cent more electric energy to operate a no-frost unit.

Also, a self defrosting refrigerator or freezer is usually larger than the one with the same number of cubic feet of space but without the no-frost feature.

Merits of Grasses

Merits and drawbacks of three of the most common grasses used for pasture improvement in Missouri are described by William Murphy, University of Missouri Extension field crops specialist.

Murphy lists tall fescue, orchard grass, and brome grass as being widely used by both beef producers and dairymen. However, he advises, "No one of these is best for inclusion in every pasture on every farm."

"They have different characteristics that influence their utility in different situations."

According to Murphy, tall fescue is a popular choice in many situations. In its favor is the fact that it is a long-lived grass. It will withstand drought and other difficult conditions. It is especially good for providing late fall and winter pasture.

Drawbacks are that tall fescue lacks quality in mid-summer, consequently, dairymen tend to avoid it. It is not as desirable as orchard grass and brome grass for making hay.

Orchard grass is not as long lived as fescue and brome. It provides more summer growth than the other two grasses, especially where the first crop is cut for hay.

A lack of drought resistance prevents orchard grass from being a good choice on droughty soils or steep south and west slopes.

Brome grass is a high quality forage. It has drought resistance under good management. But, to do well, brome requires the best in fertility and management. It will not withstand overgrazing.

Your choice of the main grass to be used in a seeding mixture will depend on the conditions in the field, where it is to be seeded, and the use and management to be given the pasture, Murphy points out.

Selections For Fall Flowers

To add color and interest to a bare spot where summer annuals have been taken out, plan a grouping of fall-flowering bulbs. Three kinds are available that have crocus-like flowers, and bloom in September or October. These include Colchicum, Autumn Crocus, and Sternbergia.

You may soon find some of them available in local nurseries or garden centers, but if you can not obtain them locally, they can be ordered by mail from bulb specialists. You will usually find them listed in popular gardening magazines.

The easiest of the three kinds to grow in the garden is the colchicum. It is sometimes advertised as the "Giant Flowering Autumn Crocus," although it is not a crocus at all. One of the most spectacular characteristics of this bulb is that it will flower well without any soil or water. The bulbs can be brought indoors to bloom, and immediately planted in the garden after flowering is complete.

Outdoors, the flowers make a pleasing grouping in the low border. Since colchicums flower without leaves, they are best shown off against other plants. Plant them among low plants or groundcovers.

Colchicums, or meadow saffron as they are sometimes called, need a sunny location, but will tolerate light shade. Plant them in loose, well-drained soil. Good drainage is very important. Set them two inches deep.

They are quite hardy, but during the first winter should be covered with a two-inch mulch. They begin root growth as soon as flowering is complete and therefore must be planted in early fall. Flowers grow about six to eight inches tall and come in white, lilac, or rosy lilac.

drainage, early planting, and a winter mulch. Planting too late results in too little fall growth, and weakened plants may be killed during the winter. A well-known autumn crocus is the Saffron crocus from which the spice used in cooking is obtained.

Autumn crocus have grassy leaves that begin growth in fall and complete growth in spring. They are excellent for rock gardens or low borders where they grow about four inches tall.

Farm

Leaves appear in late fall, but do not grow to full size until the following spring. They are rather coarse and may grow up to twelve inches, but die back in late spring.

Although we generally consider crocus to be spring flowers, types are available that bloom in fall. The flowers appear very soon after planting. They are smaller than colchicums, but colors blend well if they are planted together. Autumn crocus come in shades of blue, lavender, and white.

Culture of autumn crocus is about the same as for the colchicum. Both need good

For bright yellow color in the fall border, Sternbergia, or lily-of-the-field, might be selected. The flowers are also crocus-like, and about the size of colchicums.

Plant them about four to five inches deep. Excellent drainage is also needed by them.

Since they are slightly tender, select a sheltered location, preferably with a southern exposure. They should flower a few weeks after planting. Provide a deep mulch for them in winter.

A few spring flowering bulbs must also be planted in late summer. These include the winter aconite and the madonna lily.

Seven Kansans Perish

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least seven persons were killed in traffic accidents in Kansas over the weekend.

Thomas H. Tucker, 27, of Wichita died Sunday when his car struck two utility poles in North Wichita.

Judy Marteel of St. Marys was injured fatally in a one-car mishap on U.S. 24 two miles south of Belvue. The victim's age was not available immediately.

Billie H. Garten, 47, Coldwater, was killed early Sunday when his car struck a bridge abutment a mile west of Protection on U.S. 183. Protection is in Comanche County in the southwest part of the state.

Lonnie R. Ott, 24, Erie, Kan., was killed in a two-car crash at U.S. 54 and Highway 7 near Fort Scott.

Larrie F. Darner, 16, Abilene, died in a two-car collision Saturday.

Randy Starrett, 17, was killed Saturday in a collision near Pratt.

Mabel Luderman, 69, Anthony, Kan., died Friday night of injuries suffered in a one-car crash southeast of that community.

Three persons were killed Friday afternoon in a head-on collision on the Kansas Turnpike nine miles south of El Dorado.

The highway patrol identified the victims as Judith Lamm, 31, Lincoln, Neb., and Kenneth R. Gent, 47, and his wife, Norma, 48, Kansas City, Kan. There were no survivors.

The patrol said the Nebraska car crossed the median and met the Gent car head-on.

Record Panama Turnout

PANAMA (AP) — A record voter turnout was reported Sunday in Panama's election of 505 community representatives. They will meet within two weeks to choose the next president and vice president for the nation of 1.5 million.

It was the first balloting since Gen. Omar Torrijos seized power nearly four years ago. Voting was compulsory, with heavy fines and loss of privileges threatened for those among the 525,000 eligible who did not vote.

"I am very satisfied with the turnout," Torrijos told newsmen.

Electioneering and campaigning were almost non-existent since political parties were banned when Torrijos ousted President Arnulfo Arias in October 1968.

Crucial Spassky Win

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Defender Boris Spassky played his best game of the world chess championships Sunday, beating American Bobby Fischer for the first time since the opener of their match in July.

Spassky's convincing victory boosted the Russian champion's sagging prestige and narrowed Fischer's lead after 11 games to 6½-4½. Spassky needs 12 points to keep his world title. Fischer 12½ to unseat him.

The crowd in Reykjavik's sports hall, American tourists included, rooted for Spassky, but Fischer was still favored to topple the Russian in the games to come. They meet again Tuesday.

The 29-year-old Brooklyn, N.Y., challenger looked tense and discouraged in the final stages of Sunday's game. But he was relaxed and smiling when he returned to his hotel a few hours later.

Spassky, playing the white chessmen, had the opening move Sunday. It was pawn to king four, a more aggressive opening than the pawn to queen four that he usually opened with against Fischer. Fischer arrived three minutes late. He took the game into the Sicilian defense, which he played to a draw against Spassky in the seventh game, when the champion was also playing white.

As in the seventh game, Fischer accepted a poisoned pawn sacrifice offered by Spassky. Experts say this is highly dangerous for the player with the black pieces, and this time

"Spassky was evidently well prepared," grandmaster Isaac Kashdan said in an analysis of the game for The Associated Press. "It is doubtful that Fischer will ever again capture the poison pawn in an important contest."

Spassky's 14th move was a novel one. He retreated his knight to threaten Fischer's queen. Yugoslav grandmaster Svetozar Gligoric said that this showed Spassky had "found the solution he had been unable to find in 12 years" and mastered the Sicilian defense.

As in the seventh game, Fischer accepted a poisoned pawn sacrifice offered by Spassky. Experts say this is highly dangerous for the player with the black pieces, and this time

Triticale Catches Farmers' Interest

There is an increased interest in triticale this year, says Vic Carothers, Show-Me Extension Area agronomy specialist. Farmers are interested in how it performed last year and its future possibilities.

This small grain crop, a cross of wheat (Triticum) and rye (Secale), was first planted in the Pettis County area last fall. However, it is not a new plant. The first crosses were made in Europe nearly 100 years ago. Efforts were not successful until 1953 when Dr. B. C. Jenkins made some progress at the University of Manitoba.

Last fall seed was relatively limited and expensive. One of agronomists' greatest concerns is the ability of triticale to withstand severe winters. It is not known yet why different fields of the plant had wide variations of success and failure.

An estimated 60 to 80 per cent of the crop planted on over 300 acres on six different Henry County farms survived the last severe winter. However, eight Pettis County farms seeding about 180 acres could manage only about 10 per cent survival. Of those acres living through the winter, Henry County fields produced anywhere from 38 to 70 bushels per acre while Pettis County fields raised 50 to 60 bushels per acre. Carothers reported.

Triticale is a very tall, large strawed plant, resembling rye, with a long seed head and wide leaf blades. Its large seed size gives it seeding vigor and accelerated growth early in the fall grazing season, much like rye and winter barley.

Since it is not a hybrid crop, grain produced one year can be used the next year. Additional crossings with hardy winter wheats seems to be the only way to increase its winter durability, Carothers said. Its principal uses at present are for pasture and as a livestock feed grain crop for the producer.

Results of tests in other states indicate that even when winterkilling is not a problem, triticale seldom yields as well as wheat, but probably exceeds rye. The effect of hot dry weather and disease makes it appear that spring seeded triticale will not compete with spring oats in our climate, he added.

No specific recommendations on triticale can be made on the basis of only one year's seeding results and limited feeding trials. It is suggested that farmers should try the crop at first on only a small acreage, according to Carothers.

Publisher Announces Change

EMPORIA, Kan. (AP) — The editor and publisher of the Emporia Gazette, William L. White, has announced his son-in-law, Paul David Walker, will become assistant publisher in a few weeks.

White, who has been ill for some time, has been editor of the paper since the death of his father, William Allen White, in 1944. The elder White was one of the nation's best-known journalists.

Walker has a background in business administration. He has been on the staff of Colby College in Waterville, Maine the last two years.

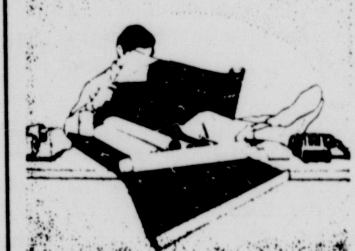

He and Barbara White met while students at Stanford University. They were married in 1957. Walker served in the Air Force, then obtained a masters degree in business at Harvard University.

He took an administrative job at Stanford, then in 1966 became business manager and comptroller of Elmira College in New York. In 1967 the Walkers moved to New York City where he worked two more years toward an advanced degree in education at Columbia University.

Barbara Walker is the adopted daughter of William L. White. She was only 3½ when White found her in blitz-torn London while serving as a war correspondent.

White wrote a book about her, "Journey for Margaret", and a movie was made with the same title, starring Margaret O'Brien.

The popular song "Aloa Oe" (Farewell to Thee) was written by Liliuokalani, last reigning queen of the Hawaiian Islands.

Interesting Uncertainty Dominates Primary Balloting

ST. LOUIS (AP) — In an active but somewhat uncertain political year, Missouri voters turn their attention Tuesday to a state primary ballot that seems overloaded with candidates but short on clear-cut issues.

Of 17 gubernatorial candidates, which is a record 10 are Democrats, seven are Republicans and two are independents. The lieutenant governor's race includes seven Democrats and five Republicans. Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick has predicted a vote of as high as one million but said only about half of the new eligible young voters, 18-25, have registered. He said about two-thirds of the voters are expected to take the Democratic ballot.

Also on the ballot is a proposed constitutional amendment for reorganizing state government. The proposition, expected to carry easily, calls for consolidation of 87 present agencies and some 440 programs into 13 departments. It's a compromise plan worked out after reorganization efforts of the "Little Hoover" commission recommendation founded in the Legislature.

In congressional races, eight Democrat-held districts appear certain to remain that way. Attention is focused on the 6th District of Northwest Missouri, including 23 counties going north from Kansas City over to Kirksville. U.S. Rep. W. R. Hull, Jr., Democrat of Weston, who has held the seat 18 years, announced early this year he is retiring. The race between six Democrats and three Republicans appears a tossup.

The only Republican-held district, the 7th, could easily remain Republican, although 12-year incumbent U.S. Rep. Durward G. Hall of Springfield is resigning. Two Democrats and four Republicans are on the primary ballot in the conservative district.

The makeup of the state Legislature is in for a change because of redistricting and retirements that left several senatorial districts without incumbents and the remap has put some incumbents into the same new districts. Thirty-seven state representatives are not seeking re-election. The senate is now 25-9 in favor of Democrats and the Democrats hold a 112-51 edge in the House.

Most interest is on the governor's race. Edward Dowd, a St. Louis lawyer, and Lt. Gov. William S. Morris, are among those seeking the Democratic nomination. Morris beat Dowd in 1968 for lieutenant governor in the primary. Both are considered regular party candidates and have outspent their opponents for media advertising and ward endorsements.

"Walkin' Joe" Teasdale of Kansas City considers himself a strong underdog in the Democratic race, saying he does not have the money interest behind him. The young Jackson County prosecutor walked several hundred miles across the state to gain exposure as a reform candidate. He has criticized Dowd and Morris for not disclosing their campaign contributions before the election.

State Sen. Earl R. Blackwell, D-Hillsboro, has the image of an independent who would not raise taxes without voter approval. LeRoy Schantz, of Springfield, is a former U.S. Labor Department official and a liberal Democrat who is considered strong among youthful and women voters.

While Dowd has emerged as a "law and order" candidate, Teasdale has said only he can beat Christopher "Kit" Bond, 33-year-old state auditor, who Teasdale expects to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Bond's residency qualifications were upheld by the Missouri Supreme Court after they were challenged by one of his primary opponents, State Rep. R.J. "Bus" King, of Clayton. Also strong in the GOP race is Gene McNary, 36, St. Louis County prosecutor, who has campaigned for crime reduction and tax reform.

Bond has campaigned for open and effective government and elimination of patronage abuses. He said he has the best chance of becoming the first Republican governor in 32 years. Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, Democrat who has held the office eight years, is prohibited by law from seeking another term. He is backing Morris.

Also in the Democratic gubernatorial race are Robert D. Newbury of O'Fallon, John Noel of St. Louis, William McKinley Thomas of Overland and Howard "Sam" Houston Sims of St. Louis.

Other Republican candidates are State Rep. Stephen Burns of Des Peres and Harvey Eugene, a St. Louis tax consultant. Unopposed are Paul J. Leonard of Jackson, a non-partisan, and independent Charles S. Miller of Kansas City.

In the lieutenant governor's race the leading Republicans are State Rep. William C. Phelps of Kansas City and Joseph Badaracco, president of the St. Louis board of aldermen. Phelps wants to make the office full-time. Badaracco, who has been mentioned as a possible St. Louis mayoral candidate next spring, has said he would not have to spend all his time in the lieutenant governor's chair.

Other GOP candidates are William Ewald of Kirkwood, Marvin Kennon of Springfield and Gregory Hansman of University City.

On the Democratic side, the frontrunners are considered to be State Rep. Jack Shramm of University City and James E. Godfrey of St. Louis, the House speaker. James P. Alyward of Kansas City has also shown some strength. Other candidates are John C. MacAllister of University City, Leonard Bade of Rolla, Wallace P. Wright of Kansas City and John D. Bond of Jefferson City.

Secretary of State James C. Kirkpatrick is confident of winning renomination on the Democratic ticket. The lone Republican candidate is Harold "Wheels" Kuehle of Cape Girardeau.

Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth has no Republican competition for his office. The Democratic contenders are State Rep. James E. Spain of Bloomfield and Michael J. Kennedy of Kansas City.

A lively race has developed for the office of state treasurer from which William E. Robinson is resigning. Of five Democratic candidates the frontrunners are considered to be former State Rep. James Spainhower of Jefferson City, Clayton lawyer Larry Carp and State Rep. E.J. "Lucky" Cantrell. Other are L.E. Morris of Jefferson City, who is seeking the office for a third time, and K.W. Morris of Kansas City.

The lone Republican candidate is State Rep. George W. Parker of Columbia.

Robinson, although acquitted last year on a charge of accepting money from a bank officer in return for depositing state money in his bank, decided against running again. The candidates have campaigned primarily on the issue of how to keep the treasurer's office from influence and how best to invest idle state funds.

Ann Landers

Claims Cat Haters Not To Be Trusted

Dear Ann Landers: All my life I have loved cats, so naturally I found the letter from the reader who wrote about her adorable Angora whom she called Lady Chatterly, very interesting.

I doubt that her fiancé, the medical student, was actually allergic to cats. He probably just disliked them. Cats have a way of sensing such things and I would bet my bottom dollar that Lady Chatterly did. The young woman was wise to break the engagement.

I have always known that people who don't like cats are not to be trusted. Such a person is invariably mean, vicious and underhanded. I have never met a cat hater who wasn't a scoundrel.

A person who loves cats should NOT marry a person who does not share these feelings. Such marriages are destined to fail. A cat hater should marry his own kind—they deserve each other. We can learn much from these scrupulously clean, unfailingly dignified creatures. The ancient Egyptians were the wisest of all. Anyone who hated a cat was put to death. — Tucson Friend

Dear Tucson: I have learned, after 17 years of writing this column, that cat lovers are the most fiercely dedicated segment of society in all the world. Moreover, they are more vocal about their devotion than dog lovers. Death to all cat haters, however, lays it on a bit heavy, in my opinion. Will you settle for life imprisonment?

Dear Ann Landers: I just finished a delightful book written by a great lady who has nine children and, I suspect, a very happy husband. She decided to share the secret of her successful marriage, bless her, and I just ran across a quote which I would like to repeat for the benefit of every married woman in your audience.

So many of us complain because our husbands are slobs. Often they drop things wherever they happen to be—shoes, shorts, shirts, towels, socks. We either nag or we pick up after them, but not until we've made a point of it, to make certain the guy is aware of the great services we render.

Mrs. Bird tells us: "If you want to stay married, do some rational thinking. Pick up his socks without comment and thank God he dropped them beside YOUR bed."

I appreciate the use of your soap box, Ann. —Uriah, California Reader

Dear U.: Thanks for sharing. Mrs. Bird and I must have gone to the same school.

Dear Ann: The problem: my father-in-law. We gave him his first grandson and he is so nutty about the kid, it's embarrassing. He smoothes the baby (six months old) with kisses and carries him around for hours at a time. I'm so afraid our child will get some sickness because Grandpa coos in his face and breathes on him constantly.

Both my husband and I have asked Grandpa not to have such close contact with the baby, for health reasons, but we might as well talk to the wall. It's a miracle that the baby has never been ill.

My husband says his dad never paid half this much attention to his own kids, and that he has flipped out over this child. Please tell me how to deal with the problem. — Orlando Worries

Dear Or.: Babies just seem to have a natural immunity to germs that go along with grandparents' kisses. Stop discouraging what sounds like a beautiful thing and count your blessings, Lady.

To The Voters of Pettis County

I have worked hard to make an Assessor the people of Pettis County could be proud of. But, it seems, there are a few who think this is a part time job and that I am a part time Assessor. I and my office staff have worked hard for six years to keep the State Tax Commission from coming in and raising the valuation of our rural and city property. This raise could be anywhere from 5% to 20%.

On becoming a Second Class County, money would be available to make a reassessment by an outside firm. Some people do not know that a Third Class County Court, under the present statutes, cannot spend tax money to make a reassessment. Our present County Court does not have that money.

I know, and everyone knows, that we have needed a reassessment for many years, but if this is done before we become a Second Class County, the elderly who are on fixed incomes and the small farmers are the ones who would be hurt. I do not feel that I want a part in causing these people undue hardship.

I have been in the hospital for 4 weeks. If this makes me a part-time Assessor, then I am guilty. However, other than this four weeks, no one has been more devoted to his office than I have.

My family and my job have always been first and foremost in my endeavors. I hope and pray that the people of this county will understand my views and that I will merit your vote and support in the Primary Election on August 8th.

'Street delegates' may help Nixon

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA News Analyst

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Most leaders of the "street delegates" — Yippies, Zippies, welfare groups, the gay crowd — promise Miami Beach authorities no violence at the Republican convention. They think trouble would work in favor of President Nixon.

Blossat

that happens.

If these findings are indicative, then the outside groups may be working from a massive misconception. They feel they caused the "downfall of the Democrats" with their stirrings at Chicago in 1968, and can do the same for Nixon this time.

Miami Beach Mayor Chuck Hall and his police authorities insist, however, that Chicago-style rough stuff is not planned. Hall told me in a telephone interview antiwar Vietnam veterans and others advise him almost daily of their intent to police their own ranks and keep things cool. They say they will deal summarily with any elements bent on violence.

A Miami Beach police official read me a Yippie pledge, evidently given voluntarily, vowing opposition to mass violence as a "tactic" on the ground it would "only reactivate the law and order issue" and by that fact help Nixon.

The Yippie statement went on to say that Miami Beach would be a bad place to make trouble. For one thing, "old people would be hurt."

It is further noted that the Zippies — a

Yippie faction — "can't bear the heat and cost of mass arrest situations." What that means is that some already are in difficulty with the law.

With such assurances in hand, Miami Beach officials are cautiously optimistic about the GOP convention. A check at Republican national committee headquarters revealed the same.

"We are not unduly concerned," says one committee officer.

If the forecast has any soft spots, they center on one black nationalist faction and the Students for a Democratic Society. The official word for them is "dangerous," but authorities nevertheless say they can contain any sort of unexpected unpleasantness.

Yet, as suggested, goofiness alone may hurt McGovern. Voters who don't like long-haired, pot-smoking, free-sexing youths often seem these days to assign them all to the Democratic nominee.

That being so, the Yippie-Zippie schedule for the GOP convention, as submitted to police, can hardly cheer Democrats.

On Aug. 20, the eve of the convention, the program calls for "Dishonor America Day," with flags to be burned, a "welfare Cadillac" (whatever that is) to be burned, eggs to be tossed at a giant photograph of Martha Raye, actress famed for entertaining troops.

Later in the week, on "Support for Women Day," the street folk will "ridicule male chauvinists," namely, Pope Paul VI, Mr. Nixon, his aide Henry Kissinger, actor John Wayne, Playboy magazine publisher Hugh Hefner.

Still later will come "Imperialism Day," featuring a protest rally and "massive march" against "Coca Cola imperialism."

A lot of it sounds like harmless fun. But if some wavering voters are going to dub the funmakers as "McGovern people," the laughter may be rather thin at the senator's headquarters.

Bugging episode lingers

WASHINGTON — The health of Sen. Thomas Eagleton and the trauma of replacing him as the Democratic vice presidential nominee have dogged the headlines for days.

Rowan

But there is a genuine election scandal that just won't go away — and the American people ought to insist that it not be swept under the garbage can.

That break-in and bugging, or attempted bugging, of Democratic party headquarters in the plush Watergate Apartments complex here grows more and more disturbing. Every week produces some new line to the White House, or the Republican party, or the Committee to Re-elect the President. The direct and circumstantial evidence has now piled up so high that even loyal Republicans must suspect that members of their ranks have resorted to burglary and illegal eavesdropping in their fervor for retaining the Presidency and the power that goes with it.

The previous employment of several of those involved in "The Watergate Caper," and recent strange revelations of big money floating into bank accounts out of nowhere, have aroused some serious misgivings that the Central Intelligence Agency was involved. But for what reason? Not partisan political purposes surely.

The latest development, reported by the Washington Post, is that a $25,000 cashier's check apparently intended for President Nixon's re-election fund was deposited in April in the bank account of Bernard L. Barker, regarded as the leader of the five men arrested in the Democratic headquarters break-in.

The check was made out to Kenneth H. Dahlberg, Mr. Nixon's finance chairman for the Midwest and the former finance chairman for Clark MacGregor in his 1970 Senate race against Hubert H. Humphrey in Minnesota. Both Dahlberg and MacGregor, who now heads Mr. Nixon's re-election campaign, expressed shock and amazement that the $25,000 wound up in Barker's account.

Only hours earlier, the Washington Star reported that four checks totaling $89,000 were deposited in Barker's Miami bank account in May. The checks were signed by a prominent Mexico City lawyer, Manuel Ogario Daguerre, whose son insisted that his father really knew nothing of the checks or of Barker.

The five men arrested in the wee hours at Democratic headquarters had fifty-three $100 bills which have been traced to Barker's account.

Barker has had CIA connections in the past.

Another CIA and FBI agent arrested in the raid on the Democrats is James W. McCord who at the time was the security chief for the Committee to Re-elect the President and a consultant to the Republican National Committee. He subsequently was fired from both posts.

The name of E. Howard Hunt Jr., a White House consultant and another former CIA agent, turned up in the notes of a couple of those arrested in this bugging episode. Hunt dashed off to Europe and has been ducking testimony before a grand jury investigating this bizarre case.

Hunt had been hired at the White House on recommendation of Charles Colson, the special counsel to the President who is known around town as the aide in charge of dirty gamesmanship.

Then several days ago the Committee to Re-elect the President disclosed that it had fired G. Gordon Liddy, who had served as its financial counsel. Liddy had refused to answer the FBI's questions about the Watergate affair.

The ties between this burglary and bugging scheme and the network of efforts to re-elect Mr. Nixon are so numerous and intertwined that even the FBI and a grand jury may never sort them out. But the public surely is entitled to a far more detailed explanation than the White House's curt disavowal of involvement in "a third-rate burglary attempt."

The burglary may indeed be characterized as third-rate; the men got caught. But it is a matter of first-rate concern when $25,000 earmarked for the President's re-election fund winds up mysteriously in the bank account of one of the suspects.

This case goes to the heart of the integrity of the American electoral process. It raises implications far more vital than the tempest over the state of Eagleton's health.

Americans must keep screaming until the whole truth of this smelly business is uncovered.

Car safety mania is going too far

In its misguided maternal instinct to protect all motorists from themselves, the federal Department of Transportation first required seat belts on all new cars; good enough. Then a year or so later it required the belts to be attached to buzzers and blinking lights that went into action every time you failed to buckle up.

Now the department has carried this trend to its logical extreme: it issued proposed new national highway safety standards last week that would make it unlawful to drive without safety belts buckled.

Under the proposals states would be required to enforce the new buckle-or-else rule or risk losing millions in federal highway funds. Penalties could range from fines through even a jail sentence in some situations.

The Transportation Department has invited public comment on the proposals (which also include a ban on seat-belt modifications that eliminate the buzzer), which it plans to implement next April.

By way of comment then, we would submit that the department's latest proposal is a flagrant invasion of privacy and an unwarranted intrusion by the federal government into an area where it has no business.

In its well-meaning quest for highway safety, the department has turned into a Big Brother, bullying and coercing motorists into doing what they may not want to do. After all, it's your car, and if you don't want to buckle up that's your business.

Besides opposing the proposed buckle law, we would go even further and urge that present laws be revoked that require buzzers or flashers if seat belts are not used. The engineers who dreamed that one up ought to be forced to spend a night in a cell with a buzzer incessantly drumming in their ears.

All of this is not to say that safety isn't desirable—it is. But so is personal freedom of choice, something the federal government seems to have forgotten.

Merry-go-round

'Spooks' infiltrate Foreign Service

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — An estimated 1,500 intelligence agents have quietly infiltrated the State Department where they carry on their spying activities in diplomatic garb.

Operatives from the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) and National Security Agency (NSA) have taken over many key posts.

This has caused considerable grumbling and grievances among old-line Foreign Service officers. They have charged privately that promotions have been rigged, transfers arranged and even a few resignations forced to clear Foreign Service officers out of the way so intelligence agents can take over their jobs.

One grievance case, hushed up by the State Department, involves Foreign Service officer Charles Anderson, who claims he was bumped from his political job in Sofia to make room for a CIA agent. When Anderson complained about the transfer, he got a low efficiency rating for his pains.

Anderson refused to comment, but his friends told us about his grievance. Other State Department sources described how the cloak-and-dagger boys were moving into the diplomatic service. The 1,500 figure came from personal officers. An official spokesman, however, refused to comment on the number of CIA and related spies in the department.

The nation's tax laws have sprung so many leaks that half the money due the government now escapes into the pockets of the privileged. Treasury experts claim the tax rate could be cut in half, without reducing federal revenue a single cent, if Congress would only plug the tax loopholes.

Instead, Congress keeps poking new loopholes in the laws until the taxpayers have their dander up. For they must pay the taxes that the special interests avoid.

Few special interests have wangled more benefits out of Congress than the banking lobby. Banking legislation is handled by the Senate and House banking committees, which always seem to be dreaming up new benefits for the banks.

On Tuesday, Senate Banking Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., has scheduled a closed session to consider the latest bonanza for the banks. This bill, carried on the Senate docket as S-3652, was actually drafted by the American Bankers Association.

A Senate staff study, dated Aug. 1 and stamped "Confidential," calls the bill "the most unconscionable example of special interest legislation (we) have seen" in recent years.

The staff estimates that the bill "could cost the states as much as a billion dollars a year in tax revenues and possibly more."

Citing figures supplied by the Federal Reserve Board, the memo alleges: "Banks paid only 10 per cent of their pretax net income to state and local governments whereas all business enterprises paid 44 per cent. In other words, the average business firm has a relative tax burden four times greater than commercial banks."

"Once state legislatures wake up to this great disparity, they might very well seek to raise the low level of taxes paid by banks. If banks were taxed at the same rate as other business firms, state and local tax revenues would be increased by $2.2 billion."

This bill, warned the memo, would block the states from charging banks the same tax rates as other businesses.

A spokesman for the American Bankers Association acknowledged that S-3652 had been drafted by the bankers, but claimed it merely clarified recommendations made by the Federal Reserve Board. The bill was introduced, he said, by Sen. Wallace Bennett, R-Utah, at the request of the bankers.

"We have been studying this for three or four years," said the spokesman. "We had a committee that came in and drew up a bill that we thought would carry out the Fed's ideas."

George McGovern in his search for a new running mate first tried Ted Kennedy, then Hubert Humphrey. Both men turned him down but offered to campaign for him. Humphrey found his old friend McGovern despondent over the ordeal of choosing a running mate. McGovern never asked his former running mate, Tom Eagleton, for his opinion on a successor. But privately, Eagleton told us he thought former Democratic party chief Larry O'Brien was the best available man. McGovern was uneasy, incidentally, that headstrong members of the Democratic National Committee might not accept his recommendation and might put up their own candidate for vice president.

Talent Search — Joe Blatchford, the boy wonder who ran the Peace Corps for a while and now heads the new ACTION agency, has hired a new director of public affairs. He is Ronald Gerevas, who will start his government career earning $36,000 a year. Blatchford sent around a memorandum announcing Gerevas has been selected "following a six-month nationwide recruitment and talent search." Presumably, it is just a coincidence that Gerevas hails from the J. Walter Thompson advertising agency in Los Angeles where White House aides H. R. Haldeman and Ron Ziegler formerly worked.

For Second Spot

Shriver Was 'Backstop'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver, who waited eagerly in the wings for everybody else to say no, was George McGovern's backstop running-mate for several days before he was invited to join the Democratic ticket.

Aides and personal friends of Shriver were told that if Sen. Edmund S. Muskie didn't want to run for vice president the job would fall to Shriver.

"There's still light," McGovern's national political director, Frank Mankiewicz, advised Shriver operatives Friday night. He had word that Muskie just might decline. "We're trying to move it from Kennebunk Port to Hyannis Port," he said.

Muskie returned to Kennebunk to discuss the offer with his wife, Jane. He delivered his turnaround Saturday morning.

Shriver, a youthful looking 56, was vacationing at the Kennedy compound in Massachusetts and was playing tennis when McGovern placed a telephone call to welcome him aboard.

The presidential nominee got a busy signal.

The connection was made a few minutes later, at 11:50 a.m. Shriver said "yes" and then went off sailing.

Later, Shriver disclosed that he had talked to McGovern Thursday afternoon. McGovern asked him if he would be interested in the job if Muskie declined. Shriver said he certainly would be.

For a group of lawyers and congressional aides pushing Shriver's cause, the second call was the perfect climax to a fast-moving sequence of events.

Shriver's name was well down on a list of possible replacements for Missouri Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton who gave up the nomination because of controversy over his medical history. But the list dwindled rapidly as those asked turned thumbs down.

Then Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey also rejected the vice-presidential offer and Shriver's political supporters realized they had a good chance.

Wednesday night, Shriver's closest backers met to launch a serious campaign for him.

Last Thursday, when Muskie was officially asked to join the McGovern ticket, Mankiewicz informed Shriver allies that there still was a very, very strong possibility that Shriver could be the ultimate choice.

Mankiewicz, who was Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's press secretary, was a leading backer of Shriver, husband of Eunice Kennedy.

On Friday morning Shriver received a hopeful telephone call from Mankiewicz, saying "it was possible but not probable" that he'd be the nominee. Shriver aides continued the stream of telephone calls to potential backers.

After the announcement, Shriver sighed: "I never thought I would survive the list."

Political Merger In Korea Is Over

SEOUL (AP) — A brief political honeymoon between the governments of North and South Korea appears to have ended in a deadlock over arrangements for negotiations to unite families separated by the division of the peninsula.

It was just July 4 that the two governments surprised their own people as well as the outside world by announcing agreement to work peacefully for reunification.

They even agreed to abandon abusive words while pursuing their diplomatic goals, and each stopped calling the other a puppet regime.

Two weeks later, after nearly a year of quibbling over technicalities, the two Korean Red Cross organizations agreed to get down to business on Aug. 5 and meet alternately in Seoul and Pyongyang, the Korean capitals. Then 10 days before the scheduled first session, the two sides hit a snag. Each insisted that the first session be held in its capital, then Pyongyang proposed that political and social leaders be invited to the first meetings in each capital.

The South reacted

vehemently to this and called on the North not to attempt to inject politics into a humanitarian matter.

It was also reported that the North balked at Seoul's proposal to allow a large group of foreign and Korean news representatives to cover the talks.

Two private meetings failed to produce agreement, and the full-dress meeting has been postponed indefinitely.

Premier Kim Jong-pil accused the North of trying to turn the negotiations into a political forum.

North Korea charged South Korea with delaying tactics.

Sources in Seoul believe North Korea is slowing the pace of Red Cross talks in an attempt to increase the chances of a resolution on Korea reaching the coming U.N. General Assembly.

Sponsored by Algeria and other pro-Pyongyang nations, the resolution calls for disbanding the U.N. watchdog committee on Korea. South Korea contends that U.N. debate on the resolution would upset the dialogue between North and South Korea.

Business Mirror

Food Prices Cause Air of Uncertainty

NEW YORK (AP) — Right when the nation's economic referees were about to congratulate themselves on bringing order to the consumer price game, those incorrigible food prices are stepping out of bounds again.

Based on latest wholesale figures, supermarket prices could become the center of attention again. Meat, poultry, eggs, fruits and vegetables seem destined to go higher. And coffee prices too.

The rise forecast in retail coffee prices represents an unexpectedly diabolical blow from nature in the form of a freeze-dried situation in the Brazilian coffee growing areas, where you must remember, it was winter in July.

The wholesale food price problem can be seen as especially irascible when it is contrasted with the prices of other wholesale items which now appear to be conforming to exhortations and expectations.

Eliminate food prices from the Wholesale Price Index and it shows for July a rise of only two-tenths of one per cent, which makes a yearly average of 2.4 per cent, a figure that by modern standards is acceptable.

Include the prices of agricultural goods, however, and the WPI rise comes out to eight-tenths of one per cent, a yearly average of 9.6 per cent, a rate that could bankrupt a family of hungry, growing children.

The signals being sent out by this ominous turn are directed in sharp focus at:

—The Price Commission, which has been hesitant to tangle with farmers.

—The administration and its election advisers, who must know that consumer attitudes can become politicized in election years.

It is nearly too much to believe or bear, but while the nation still wrestles with inflation, albeit while enjoying benefits of a sturdy expansion, some economists are talking about recession.

This dismal outlook may have something to do with the psychology or the politics of the forecaster. Some economists are by nature as dour as their subject; most economists, like others, lean to the left or right in politics.

Whatever the reason for the recession talk, this is the reasoning:

The country is overspending. We'll have a three-year federal budget deficit of more than $80 billion. Everyone knows that deficits are inflationary. Nobody knows this more than the Federal Reserve Board.

The Fed, therefore, will be goaded into action. It will seek to restrain the economy by restricting the money supply. And down goes the economy, into a corrective recession, in the latter part of 1973.

No Hopes Of Support By Wallace

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The American party's presidential nominee says he does not expect to receive the endorsement of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Rep. John G. Schmitz, an ultraconservative from California and a former Republican, added that he does not expect Wallace to participate in this year's election or endorse any candidate.

Wallace, paralyzed from the waist down due to an assassination attempt May 15, founded the American party in 1968 and was its candidate for president that year.

Schmitz said at the party's national convention, which wound up over the weekend, that Wallace recently told him in a telephone conversation that "John, you are one of my favorite people."

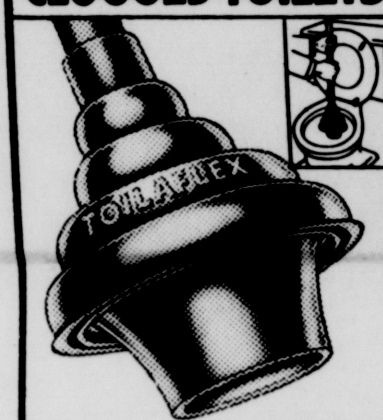

Schmitz's choice for vice president, Thomas Jefferson Anderson, was nominated at the conclusion of the convention Saturday. Anderson is a Tennessee weekly newspaper editor. Like Schmitz, he is a member of the right-wing John Birch Society.

Schmitz said the party would be on the ballots of at least 35 states in November. William K. Shearer, a party leader from California, said there would have to be immediate "judicial challenges" in states where the party ticket was being threatened with exclusion from the ballot.

Compounding Schmitz's task is the apparent dislike of some American party followers for the Birch Society. Indiana's delegation repeatedly indicated its displeasure with "having two Birchers on the ticket."

Some Illinois delegates walked out of the convention to protest the party link with the society.

No Mercy Is Shown By Thief

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Shelbyville woman says a thief took her last $225 and her dying husband's watch when she fell asleep during an all-night vigil for her husband at a hospital.

"It's beyond me why anyone would want to take the money and watch with my husband lying down the hall, dying," Mrs. Mary Warren said. "I just hope that whoever took it needs it a lot more than I do."

She said relatives brought her husband's Social Security and disability checks Friday to help her pay for her stay in Nashville and her husband's stay in St. Thomas Hospital.

"I cashed the checks and put the money and his watch in the zipper compartment of my pocketbook," she recalled. "I had been trying to stay up all night in the waiting room down the hall from my husband in case something happened to him during the night."

She said she dozed periodically Friday night and finally fell asleep about 4:30 a.m. Saturday.

She said when she awoke about 6 a.m., she noticed the zipper compartment open and found the money and the watch missing.

The watch is more important than the money, she said, because it is one of her husband's most prized possessions.

"My husband's passing" on, and I have five children at home, no groceries, bills to pay and nothing to pay them with," Mrs. Warren said. "The only income I have is my husband's Social Security and disability. I just don't know what I'm gonna do."

Meanwhile, she continued her 24-hour vigil. Her husband is in the hospital's intensive care unit. He was in critical condition late Sunday night, but hospital officials would not disclose the nature of his illness.

Slays the 'Monster'

Player Captures PGA

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Gary Player, one of golf's mightiest mites, has mastered The Monster and suddenly recouped his fading prestige.

Four months ago, Player was eating humble pie after pulling within a stroke of the lead in the Greensboro Open heading into the final round, then being disqualified for not signing his scorecard, which read 67. Today the crewcut South African is the new Professional Golf Association national champion and $45,000 richer. His second PGA title, his first coming in 1962, will probably reinforce the belief that he is one of golf's "Big Three" along with Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino. "It just goes to show you what a humbling game golf is," said the 5-foot-8, 159-pound Player on Sunday. "But it all seems to even out."

Player harnessed a balky putter on the key holes down the stretch to salvage a two-over-par 72, destroying Jimmy Jamieson's dream of glory and finishing with 281 for 72 holes — one-over-par at the 7,054-yard Oakland Hills Country Club south course, dubbed "The Monster" by Ben Hogan in 1951.

The cherubic Jamieson, who won the Western Open this year, bogeyed the last three holes to drop out of a brief lead and end up with a 70 for a four-round total of 213, two strokes behind Player.

Veteran Tommy Aaron came in with a 71 to tie Jamieson for second, both earning $20,850 of the $225,000 purse.

Three-time champion Sam Snead, now 60 and always a sentimental favorite blitzed the front nine in three-under 32 en route to a 69, good for a $9,275 and a share of fourth at 284 with 1969 winner Ray Floyd and Billy Casper. It was the best round of the day, equalled only by George Archer who finished far down the list.

Bunched at five-over 285 were second-round leader Jerry Heard, Doug Sanders, Canadian Open champ Gay Brewer, and Phil Rodgers.

Pretournament favorites Trevino and Nicklaus were far off the pace, with Trevino and Hale Irwin at 286, and Nicklaus finishing at 287 with Dan Sikes.

The 36-year-old Player, who was the leader by a stroke over Casper heading into Sunday's round, boosted his money winnings this year to $119,000.

Snead, Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, who ended up with nine-over 289, are the only active golfers who have won more major championships.

When Player bogeyed the No. 3 and 4 holes, it put him one-over and opened the floodgates for a host of challengers in the early going. At one time or another, Casper, Heard, Brewer, Rodgers, Sanders, Floyd and Jamieson all had a piece of the lead.

Aaron Swats Two More; Now 53 Short of Babe

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hank Aaron broke Babe Ruth's home run record Sunday.

No, not THAT record. Aaron clubbed two home runs, including the game-winning shot in the 10th inning, lifting the Atlanta Braves to a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

His first homer was No. 660, his illustrious career, the most ever hit by one player with one team. Ruth had held the record, having belted 659 with the New York Yankees.

But Aaron downplayed his achievement, preferring to look ahead—to that other record.

"This club record does not have too much significance for me," declared the 38-year-old slugger, who came up with the Milwaukee Braves in 1954.

"That 714 is still the big one to me—or maybe 715."

Ruth, of course, holds the major league homer record of 714, having hit 659 with the Yankees plus 55 more with the Boston Braves and Boston Red Sox.

Aaron's pair against the Reds boosted his season total to 22 and his career figure to 661, just 53 short of the Babe.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Montreal 8-0 and 7-2; Houston and San Francisco split a pair, the Astros taking the opener 7-3 and the Giants winning the nightcap 6-2; the New York Mets clubbed the Chicago Cubs 12-2, and Los Angeles blanked San Diego and St. Louis zipped Philadelphia, both by 6-0 scores.

In the American League, the New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Milwaukee 3-0 and 6-4, the second game going 10 innings; the Chicago White Sox took two from Texas, 10-1 and 7-1; California swept Kansas City 4-3 and 3-2; Detroit and Cleveland split, the Indians winning the first game 2-1 and the Tigers the second 6-5; Oakland split a pair with Minnesota, the A's winning 6-3 in a 13-inning first game and the Twins winning the second 5-1, and Baltimore walloped Boston 11-2 in the lone American League single game.

Aaron hit a solo homer off starting pitcher Wayne Simpson, a right-hander, in the fourth to give Atlanta a 3-0 lead.

After the Reds tied the score in the sixth on singles by Joe Morgan, Bobby Tolan and Johnny Bench and Tony Perez two-run double, Aaron hit his game-winning, a solo shot with two-out in the 10th off lefty reliever Don Gullett.

"It was a fast ball," the Hammer said. "All he threw me was fast balls, so I was looking for a fast ball on that pitch. Gullett was throwing the ball real good, but I just got around on the pitch."

Another slugger who "got around" on a pitch—or, more precisely, three pitches—was Pittsburgh's Willie Stargell.

Stargell hit three home runs in the Bucs' twin-bill, driving in six runs and taking over the major league RBI lead with 86, who also had a single and three walks, reaching base safely seven times out of eight trips to the plate.

Mike Torrez gave up Stargell's two first-game homers. Stargell smacked a grand-slam in the fourth to break up a scoreless tie, then added a solo homer in the eighth.

In the second game, he homered to lead off the second inning, erasing an early 1-0 Montreal lead. Richie Hebner, picking up his teammate's cue, blasted a three-run shot in the fourth for the Pirates.

Cesar Cedeño and Lee May led Houston to five runs in the sixth and seventh innings of the opener of their twin-bill against the Giants. Cedeño singled, stole his 36th base and scored on May's single. May also had an RBI single in the seventh.

Dave Kingman, Chris Speier and Ken Henderson hit solo homers and Ed Goodson rapped a pair of run-scoring singles for San Francisco in the second game.

Hank Aaron . . . Just Trudging Along

What Atlanta couldn't do here in the last three games—win—Hank Aaron did for the Braves with the home run ball Sunday in Cincinnati. In the fourth inning, Aaron collected his 660th homer of his career to give the Braves a 3-0 lead (top picture). In the 10th inning, he broke up a 3-3 tie to guide the Braves to a 4-3 victory with his 661st career round-tripper. (UPI)

To Decide West Title

The western division Central Missouri Ban Johnson Baseball championship will be decided here tonight in a one-game playoff between Sedalia and Boonville; both teams are sporting 12-6 records.

Bob Pledge, who did not see action in last night's CMBJ All-Star game, will be on the mound for Sedalia. Denny Sereu is expected to be the starting pitcher for Boonville.

Pledge was picked as the starting pitcher for the west in last night's all-star tilt, but was held out after it was learned of tonight's playoff.

The winner of the playoff contest will go against Columbia, who is undefeated this season, for the CMBJ championship. That series is scheduled to open Tuesday in Columbia.

Hylton Drought Ends

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — "It has been a long time coming, and I think I got a message across to a few people, at least to my own satisfaction."

That was the reaction Sunday from perennial also-ran James Hylton after he had won only the second major stock car race of an eight-year career, the rich Talladega 500 at Alabama International Speedway.

Hylton, who will be 38 in two weeks, drove a Mercury to which he holds the title across the finish line half a car length ahead of Ramo Stott, 37, of Keokuk, Iowa, as 68,000 spectators stood and cheered him on.

"I proved that I can build a winning stock car and that I could drive it as well as anyone else," said the slender blond, who pocketed the biggest first-place check of his career — $24,865.

In the other big race of the weekend, at the mid-Ohio course near Lexington, George Follmer got his own message across to the dominant Team McLaren cars of Denis Hulme and Pete Revson.

Follmer, a replacement for Mark Donohue, drove his turbo-charged Porsche to victory in the season's fourth Can-Am road race and going wire to wire at that.

Second place went to Jackie Oliver in his rejuvenated UOP Shadow and third to Milt Minter in a non-turbo charged Porsche.

It was Follmer's second triumph over the McLaren's this year. And Sunday, the Revson and Hulme challenges evaporated early with tire problems.

Hylton, starting 22nd in the field of 50 drivers, brought his homemade Mercury quickly in 'front and by the 75th mile he was in solid contention. Later, when such notables as Dodge's Bobby Isaac and Buddy Baker and Mercury's David Pearson dropped out for various reasons, he gained the lead at the 103rd lap around the 2.66-mile trioval and became the man to beat the rest of the way.

His job Sunday was made easier by a five-car wreck that wiped out Isaac's pole-winning Dodge and caused damage to Richard Petty's Dodge that eventually took the three-time Grand National champion out of contention.

Third place went to Bobby Allison in a Chevrolet, fourth to Red Farmer in a Ford, fifth to Buddy Arrington in a Dodge.

Chiefs Take Clean Slate to Arrowhead

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs will have a perfect 2-0 National Football League record in exhibition games Saturday night when they unveil their new Arrowhead Stadium against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Chiefs won their second game Saturday when they came from behind to beat the Chicago Bears 24-10 at South Bend, Ind.

Trailing 10-0 after one quarter, the Chiefs got even in the second on Jan Stenerud's 32-yard field goal. Ed Podolak's 11-yard run with time running out in the period and Stenerud's extra point.

Kansas City pushed over single touchdowns in the third and fourth periods. Wendell Hayes took a four-yard pass from Len Dawson in the third, and Mike Adamele ran two yards in the fourth.

John Huarte, third team quarterback, took the Chiefs 19 yards to the touchdown scored by Adamele.

Bobby Douglass, the former Kansas flash, and Joe Moore, who sparked at Missouri, furnished the most fire for the Bears.

Moore made Chicago's only touchdown with a two-yard burst and had 33 yards for 10 carries for the game. Douglass engineered the Bears to their touchdown. In all, he completed four of 11 passes for 26 yards and ran five times for 26 yards.

Dawson hit on 10 of 17 passes for 95 yards and had one interception.

Chiefs Coach Hank Stram said having to come from behind would help his team.

"There may be times in the regular season when we'll fall behind," the coach said. "We can look back and know that we have been able to come back in the past."

"In that way, we can profit from these preseason games."

Stram paid tribute to the Bears for their quick 10-0 start.

"I give the Bears credit," he said, "rather than take it away and put the blame on our players. The Bears hustled and hit hard, especially in that first drive."

Dawson said on the touchdown pass to Hayes "he was so wide open all I had to do was float the ball out there."

The Chiefs, who resumed practice today, will meet the Cardinals Saturday night before a capacity crowd of more than 78,000 at Arrowhead in the new Harry S. Truman sports complex some nine miles east of downtown Kansas City.

Lutz Brings Pro Tennis Title Back To America

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP) — The U.S. Pro Tennis Championship was back in America for the first time in a decade today after a decisive victory by California's Bob Lutz in his finest week since he abandoned the amateur ranks four years ago.

Lutz shook off various physical problems and ended Australia's 10-year domination by winning the title with a 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 triumph over Tom Okker of The Netherlands Sunday in the windup of the $50,000 tournament at Longwood.

"It's been my week," the 24-year-old former NCAA champion from Southern California said. "This has to be my biggest win as a pro."

Lutz arrived with nagging back and right knee ailments. Then he developed a painful blister on his right foot, requiring treatment during his match with Okker.

"I have a lot of confidence, so I guess it's just a matter of keeping my body intact," he said after collecting a check for $10,000 from the sponsoring New England Merchants National Bank.

Lutz launched his successful quest for the pro championship by defeating top-seeded John Newcombe. Then he followed with victories over Rod Laver and Cliff Drysdale before defeating Okker, 28, in a two-hour showdown.

"He played a solid game," Okker said. "He was very quick and played very well." Newcombe and fellow Australian Tony Roche, four-time Wimbledon champions, won the U.S. Pro doubles title for the first time, defeating Lutz and Arthur Ashe 6-3, 1-6, 7-6. The Aussies won five straight points in the tie-breaker and held on to share $1,800. Lutz and Ashe split $900.

East Tops West In All-Star Game

BOONVILLE — The Eastern Central Missouri Ban Johnson All-Stars rode Tipton catcher David Bixler's first inning, two-run home run all the way here Sunday night as the east topped the west, 2-0, in the 1972 CMBJ All-Star contest.

Bixler's drive over the left field fence in the top of the first off losing pitcher Al Leimkuehler (Marshall) with Columbia's Tim Drennan aboard was all the scoring in the game. Drennan had singled and later stolen second.

The west picked up only five hits, three of which were off the bats of Sedalia batters. Steve Gerlecz, who was stationed in center field, went two for three; left fielder Mike Robertson picked one hit in two appearances.

Into Hall of Fame

Induct Koufax, Wynn, Berra

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Baseball's Hall of Fame opened its doors today to pitchers Koufax and Early Wynn, catcher Yogi Berra and five other great names from the past.

The eight new entries were officially inducted into the shrine in ceremonies near The National Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum while thousands of fans watched the annual mid-summer pageant.

Along with Koufax, Wynn and Berra, pitcher Lefty Gomez and first baseman Buck Leonard were on hand to receive the honor. Three of the new members were honored posthumously—outfielder Ross Youngs, American League President Will Harridge and catcher Josh Gibson.

Koufax, the youngest player ever to make the Hall at 36, retired prematurely from baseball because of an arthritic left arm. But before leaving the Los Angeles Dodgers, he established himself as the best pitcher in the game from 1962 through 1966.

Once he was able to harness his fastball and curve, the boy from Brooklyn dominated the National League. He led the senior circuit in earned run average those last five seasons, winning the Cy Young Award three times and Most Valuable Player once.

Koufax struck out 300 batters or more three times, including a record 382 in 1965, and pitched four no-hitters, also a record.

While Koufax was the golden arm of the Dodgers, Berra was a golden bat for the New York Yankees. The Yankee catcher had a modest 285 lifetime batting average, but was one of the game's best clutch hitters.

Jenkins Edges Utz In Sprint Feature

JEFFERSON CITY — Jim Jenkins, Slater, edged Bill Utz, Sedalia, by less than a foot here Saturday night in the sprint feature at Capital Speedway.

Earlier in the evening, Jenkins had nabbed the B-modified feature in his number five entry.

Tom Frasher, Jefferson City, captured the late model stock event.

Kenny Maycock, Waverly, was the hobby stock winner.

Jay Woodside Wins Super Sprint Race

MARSHALL — Jay Woodside, Kansas City, making his first appearance of the season at the Saline County Speedway here Sunday night, crossed the finish line ahead of Slater's Russell Hibbard in the super sprint feature.

Jim Jenkins, Slater, won the B-feature, while Shorty Acker, Windsor, won his second late model stock car feature in a row. Jenkins' win was his third in a row and the sixth in nine outings at the track.

Mike Grapes, Marshall, copped the hobby stock feature.

Five times he drove in 100 or more runs and in his 18-year career, he walloped 358 homers. He was also known as an instinctive catcher and peerless handler of pitchers.

Wynn had waited several years for his election to the Hall, despite an amazing career record of 300 victories with the Washington Senators, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox.

He was frankly annoyed at having been bypassed earlier. "I was disappointed the first year and disappointed the second year. The third year I just shrugged it off."

Wynn retired in 1963 after 23 years in the majors. A player becomes eligible for the Hall five years after retirement.

Gomez goes back considerably more years than Wynn. He was the stopper of the New York Yankee staff in the 1930s, pitching his best in the tough games.

Gomez was called "El Goofy" because of his sometimes-eccentric behavior on the mound — he'd occasionally stop a game to watch airplanes fly over Yankee Stadium. These actions, however, could not obscure a fancy 189-102 lifetime record.

Youngs, a flashy base runner for the old New York Giants, was described by Manager John McGraw as a mini-version of Ty Cobb. He produced a 322 lifetime batting average before dying of Bright's disease in 1927, a year after he completed his 10th season in the majors.

Harridge, who died last year, was president of the American League for almost 28 years — from 1931 to 1959. He guided the circuit through the trying depression years into the explosive 1950s and was one of the most successful of all baseball presidents.

Leonard and Gibson were stars of the old Negro League, an organization of blacks that existed prior to the breaking of the color line in the majors in 1947. They'll be inducted into a special wing of the Hall honoring players of that league.

After the morning induction ceremonies, the Yankees played the Dodgers in the annual Hall of Fame game.

Dave Price, Kansas City, won the super feature; the fast feature went to Lindell Coates of Independence; Chris Schwermer, Sedalia, was the slow feature winner, while John Hill, Sedalia, won the consolation feature.

Price nailed down the super heat event, Coates was the winner of the fast heat, while Schwermer was the slow heat winner.

Price set fast time at :22.5 on the one-third mile asphalt track. He also captured the trophy dash.

Track officials announced that starting Saturday night, three places will be awarded in the feature events and two places in the heats.

Basso Captures Cycling Crown

GAP, France (AP) — Marino Basso, an Italian, won the world road bicycling championship Sunday with a fantastic final sprint. His time for the race was 7:05:59.

Basso came from behind in the last 20 meters to beat the leader, Mario Bitossi of Italy, while passing Eddie Merckx of Belgium. Cyrille Guimard of France was third.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "Now that you and Bobby Wolff and Bobby Goldman have added the World's mixed team championship to your two open World titles it might be nice to run some hands from the matches."

Jim: "Haven't you put the cart before the horse? A mixed team is usually just as strong as the female half and full credit should go to Betsy Wolff, Heidi Noland of Lake Charles, Louisiana, and Nancy Alpaugh of New Orleans, who really carried us through. Here is a hand played by Heidi."

Oswald: "It doesn't look as though there was much play to the hand. All Heidi had to do was draw trumps and set up dummy's fifth heart for the 13th trick."

Jim: "I guess I should have said 'Bid,' not 'played.' She certainly bid decisively to get to the grand slam. The other North-South pair barely staggered into six."

Oswald: "The difference between six and seven was 500 points, which is worth 11 IMPs. The grand slam was well worth bidding since it would make against any 3-3 or 4-2 break in hearts or if one opponent held five hearts and at least four diamonds."

Jim: "Right. In that case the man with all those red cards would be caught in a squeeze."

Bilingual Education Is Increasingly Important

WASHINGTON (AP) — Imagine your shock if you reported to a new job and a supervisor gave instruction in a foreign language.

For five million youngsters with limited or no command of English a similar experience is familiar. They troop into American classrooms to learn reading, writing and arithmetic, but they often don't understand the teacher and the culture is strange.

The toll in discouraged pupils and eventual dropouts is tremendous. It is estimated that Spanish-speaking Americans, the nation's second largest minority group, average nationally only eight years of schooling.

To alleviate the situation, the federal government is spending about $35 million a year to develop bilingual programs designed to overcome the language handicap and keep the child in school.

The U.S. Office of Education has 213 bilingual projects in about 30 states serving about 100,000 children speaking 19 languages other than English.

The current effort mainly is devoted to Spanish-speaking youngsters. The United States has an estimated 15 million Spanish-speaking residents, more than any other nation with the exceptions of Spain, Mexico, Argentina and Colombia.

The second largest group with a language barrier to learning in U.S. schools is the American Indian, according to Dick Goulet, program director for bilingual education in the Office of Education.

Goulet said the federal bilingual programs, now in their fourth year, "generally are a great success, especially in the spinoffs of community involvement, universities developing new programs and the passage of new legislation."

He said Massachusetts has a law and Pennsylvania, Texas, New York and California have guidelines that require schools to provide bilingual education where a certain percentage of students speak a first language other than English.

An example of bilingual education: A Spanish-speaking youngster upon entering school is taught in his native tongue and gradually introduced to English in his reading, arithmetic and science classes.

Goulet said that the Spanish Curriculum Center in Miami, Fla., is developing a complete bilingual curriculum, reading, math, science and social science, for grades one through three.

Thus far, the federal effort has been directed at the elementary school level although a few high school programs have been started in port-of-entry cities such as Philadelphia and New York, according to Goulet.

In all of its experiments, Goulet said, the teachers involved must be bilingual and, where possible, have the same ethnic background as the pupils.

One problem facing educators in the bilingual field is that many of the youngsters come from poor social and economic backgrounds and have inadequate academic preparation in their native language.

New York City has 22 bilingual projects but the Fleischmann Commission reported that only 4,000 children are being reached with such programs although the city has 135,000 Spanish-speaking youngsters who are severely limited in ability to speak English.

"It is no wonder that Puerto Rican children are scoring poorly on standardized tests, dropping out of school at an extraordinary rate (52 per cent between 10th and 12th grades), failing to take advantage of post-secondary school opportunities and finding it very difficult to compete in the job market," the commission said.

Chicago is reaching 12,000 of its 45,000 foreign-language speaking children through one or another bilingual project. Dr. James Moffat, an assistant superintendent in the Chicago system, says "our problem is finding teachers who are bicultural as well as bilingual."

Almost all educators stress a need to maintain a student's heritage and culture as he is introduced to English and to the pattern of American culture.

"Our society has taken its toll of kids by depriving them of their self image," said Michael Quinn, of the Chicago system. "A child has to stand tall before he can learn his reading, writing and arithmetic."

Democrats Are Favored in Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Voters feel the Democratic party is better able to handle the nation's serious problems than the Republican party, according to the latest Gallup Poll.

The poll, released Sunday, showed the Democrats holding a 53 to 47 per cent lead. They actually trailed 34 per cent and the GOP 28, but Gallup divided the remaining 38 per cent undecided equally between the two parties.

Twenty-five per cent of the voters said the Vietnam war was the most serious issue, while 23 per cent cited the high cost of living.

The Democratic party's edge in public confidence contrasts with President Nixon's 19-point lead in popularity over Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential candidate.

The Gallup organization said the disparate results might indicate "many voters may be taking a 'wait and see' attitude regarding McGovern's stance on key issues. This is perhaps the principal reason why one Democrat in every three currently withholds support from McGovern."

In a poll taken in July 1968, Nixon held a similar wide edge over Hubert H. Humphrey and the Republicans led the Democrats by 52 to 48 per cent.

In August 1968, the GOP lead stretched to 56 to 44 per cent, but by the election Nixon's popularity lead nearly disappeared while his party's margin narrowed to 53 to 47 per cent.

The war was also considered the most serious problem in 1968, but by twice as many persons. Fifty-two per cent selected the war and 29 per cent chose crime-lawlessness in that poll.

Crime-lawlessness was the third most frequently cited problem in the current survey, but only 10 per cent chose it. Nine per cent named drug use and abuse.

In 1968 only 9 per cent chose the high cost of living as the most serious problem. Thirteen per cent selected race relations.

SEC Is Considering Penn Central Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission says it is considering action against 15 former officers of the Penn Central Railroad as a result of stock sales shortly before the carrier filed for bankruptcy.

The sales "were deemed to raise the most serious questions

Legislator Asks Residence Probe

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A Republican state legislator from St. Louis County wants further investigation into the residences of two Democratic members of the House of Representatives.

Rep. Richard Marshall, R-Webster Groves, asked Sunday for an investigation by the circuit attorneys of St. Louis County and the city of St. Louis. Marshall said he believes Democratic legislators Patrick Hickey of St. Ann and Thomas Walsh of St. Louis live outside their districts.

Both Hickey and Walsh are seeking re-election. Last week courts in the city and county declined to rule on their residency. Judges said suits filed against Hickey and Walsh couldn't be completed before the Aug. 8 primary.

Also last week the Missouri Court of Appeals here refused to act on a civil suit handled by Marshall seeking to take Hickey and Walsh off the primary ballot.

as to whether it had been based on material inside information," SEC Chairman William J. Casey said today in a two-volume report on the financial collapse of the railroad.

Federal law prohibits stock sales by corporate officers based on inside information not available to the general public.

The SEC did not spell out what enforcement action it is considering in the case.

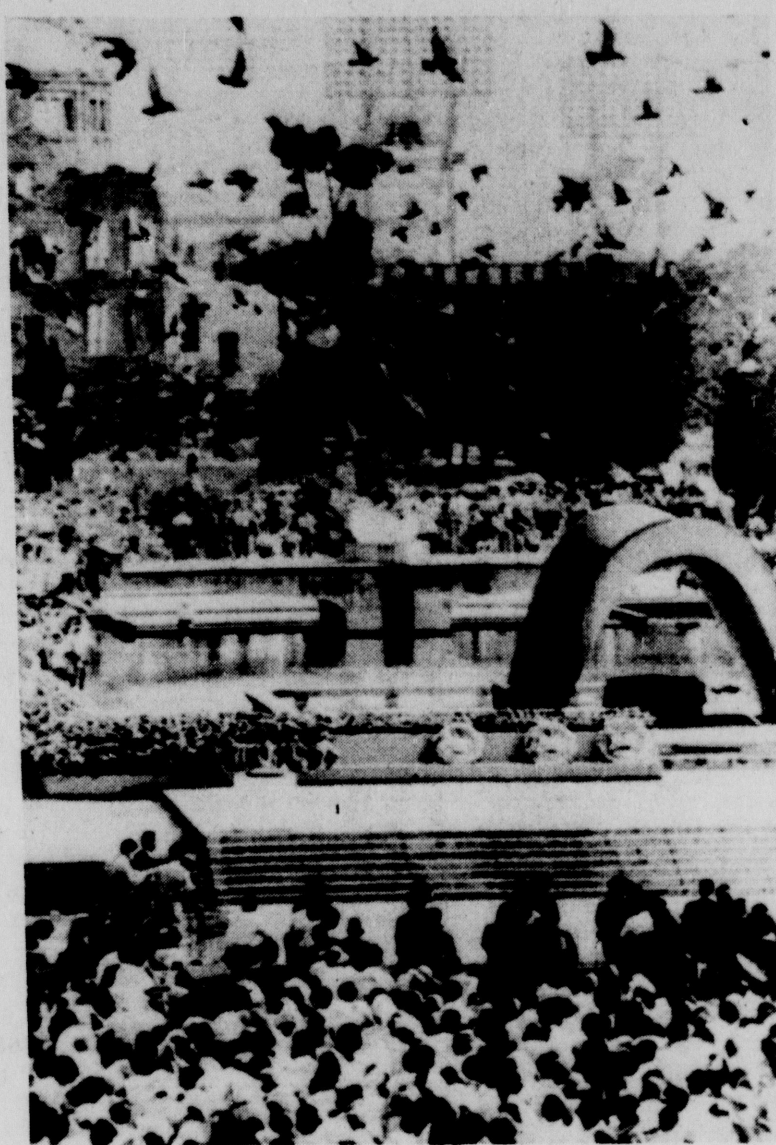

"These officers had apparent access to information concerning the state of Penn Central's affairs which was reaching the public only with a serious amount of distortion," the report said.

The report added that, prior to the bankruptcy filing in June 1970, the officers, including members of the finance and operating departments, sold about 70 per cent of the stock they owned at the time of the merger.

The SEC report, prepared for the House special subcommittee on investigations, said the 1968 merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads was doomed from the start because of poor planning, lack of capital and executive infighting.

The Penn Central that resulted from the merger became the nation's largest rail line. The federal government became directly involved in the railroad's operations in December 1970 when Congress authorized $100 million in loan guarantees to aid Penn Central.

Remember Tragedy

With pigeons flying over the ceremonial site, thousands of mourners attended solemn peace ceremonies in Hiroshima, Japan, Sunday at the spot where the U.S. dropped its first atomic bomb in 1945. The ceremony marked the 27th anniversary of the nuclear holocaust which killed an estimated 80,000 persons and hastened the end of World War II. (UPI)

'Nail Polish' Break Hurts Yachting Try

MONTE CARLO (AP) — The good ship Crab Grass and the S.S. Nail Polish stared each other down all last week across the bottle blue of the Monaco boat basin.

The Nail Polish broke first for open water and probably dropped half a point or so in the Mediterranean yachting world's annual prestige stakes.

The Nail Polish is Ultima II, the 257-foot yacht of Revlon Cosmetics president Charles Revlon. Its rival is La Belle Simone, owned by William J. Levitt, the mass home builder who enticed thousands of Americans into suburbia.

The only other competitor is Aristotle Onassis' yellow-hulled

Christina, but he steers clear of Monte Carlo since he fell out with Prince Rainier. Nothing else currently at sea and privately owned can compete for size and luxury, the very heart of the game.

All through August and September the yachts will score points in the ports where they cross paths, their crews telling stories on their owners and guests.

Along the Monte Carlo quais, La Belle Simone got points for expensive newness and attention to conspicuous detail. Launched this year, it cost between $6 million and $10 million and has Italian marble toilets, even for the 26-man crew. The Levitt yacht also picked up curiosity points with the appearance of the ship's physician as chauffeur of the boss's car. The doctor is a young man who wears a pony-tail, nautical whites and a nameplate reading Dr. Greenberg.

Points were lost for a report that La Belle Simone's officers had to carry guests' suitcases from the pier — there should be a baggage boy — and an after deck flower arrangement of white gladioli that a woman critic on shore said would have looked more at home in a funeral parlor.

Ultima II, looking considerably less modern than La Belle Simone, got clear points only for its size, about 20 feet longer, and the matched pair of five-foot-tall Okinawan sailors standing twin guard in monogrammed white and blue at the foot of the gangplank.

Once you can afford the initial investment to get in the Mediterranean big league, there are economies.

Levitt's bill for 10 days of anchorage in the Monte Carlo basin was 1,300 francs, or about $270 dollars, a fraction of what he would have paid for a hotel room.

Mooring at the marina also gave him a telephone, which normally takes about a year to get in France or Monaco.

Probing Cause Of Fatal Crash

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — Madison County and federal authorities were investigating today the cause of a Sunday night plane crash which took the life of a 43-year-old St. Louis County, Mo., dermatologist near here.

A light aircraft piloted by Dr.

G. Thomas Carr and equipped with pontoons, stalled and dove into a wooded area while approaching Horseshoe Lake about three miles of here, authorities said.

Carr had offices in Ferguson, Mo., a St. Louis suburb, and in Belleville, Ill.

Political Crash Course For New Running Mate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anxious to energize his crisis-delayed presidential campaign, Sen. George McGovern is giving Sargent Shriver a cram course on how best to fill the running-mate role so many others have shunned.

Shriver, the 56-year-old Kennedy-in-law, lawyer, businessman and former diplomat, appeared the very picture of an eager student. He vowed Sunday to take his first campaign for elective office directly to the people and to refocus the image of America he said has been "blurred and darkened" by 3½ years of Republican rule.

Receiving a parade of McGovern aides and advisers at Timberlawn, the spacious estate he leases in suburban Maryland, Shriver reported he had been given the blessing of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and fully expects complete Daley support for the ticket.

The meetings among the staff, advisers, friends and candidates themselves began in early morning and continued into the night. They were described as getting-to-know-you efforts, to work out the office space, staff requirements and travel plans of the Shriver part of the campaign.

"We want to get him on the road by Thursday at the latest," a McGovern staff member said, indicating that, at first, Shriver would be concentrating on the nation's largest cities and on such issues as foreign policy and welfare.

Shriver has intimate acquaintance with both subjects, drawing on experience obtained as U.S. ambassador to France, the first head of the Peace Corps and the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

He showed no unhappiness at his relatively low placing on McGovern's list of vice-presidential possibilities and said he is looking forward to his meeting Tuesday night with the Democratic National Committee.

Barring the unexpected, the committee will proceed to nominate Shriver just as the Democratic National Convention last month approved McGovern's choice of Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton as the vice-presidential nominee.

Sharing a lunch of barbecued hamburgers and hot dogs with McGovern, Shriver said he was able to tell McGovern, without reservation, that there was nothing in his past that could embarrass either the candidate or the party.

And referring to the now-famous question asked Eagleton at Miami Beach, he laughed and said: "If there are any skeletons in my closet, I hope I get their full support."

Eagleton formally withdrew from the race July 31 after contending for a week with the political storm raised by his disclosure that he had been a psychiatric patient three times in the 1960s and had received electric-shock treatment for depression.

When McGovern asked him about the skeletons, Shriver said, he replied that he couldn't think of anything that might adversely affect the ticket's chances of success.

Shriver was on Cape Cod when McGovern called Saturday and offered the nomination.

Shriver's first mission after flying back to Washington late Saturday was a midnight visit to the gravesites of his two slain brothers-in-law, President John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Billy Dean Dennis, 25, Kansas City, was killed Saturday when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a car two miles south of Cameron.

John W. Brown, 84, Koshkoning, died when his truck collided with a Frisco freight train in his hometown near the Arkansas border in the central part of the state.

Louis Reed, 40, Kansas City, was killed Friday night when he attempted to enter a car as it backed up. He was thrown into a utility pole.

Floyd W. Tichenor, 24, Napoleon, Mo., was killed in a head-on crash on U.S. 63 two miles south of Lancaster in northwest Missouri Friday evening.

Commission Contends Corruption Widespread

NEW YORK (AP) — A special commission reports finding "widespread corruption" in a two-year probe of the New York City police department and recommends appointment of a special deputy state attorney general to root out corruption among policemen, prosecutors and judges.

The Knapp Commission said in a report Sunday that it found graft ranging from well-organized monthly gambling payoffs to narcotics "scores" of as much as $80,000 to small but numerous payments to uniformed patrolmen from construction sites, bars and businesses.

The commission urged Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to appoint a special prosecutor to head a new, independent watchdog agency "staffed by persons wholly unconnected with the police department" to investigate and prosecute "all crimes involving corruption in the criminal process."

Neither the public nor honest policemen feel they can trust the city district attorney's office or investigating commission to handle the job, it said. All those agencies rely on policemen to do the legwork and New Yorkers "just don't trust policemen to investigate each other."

The five-man special commission headed by Whitman Knapp, a Wall Street lawyer since recommended for the federal bench, also advocated these reforms:

—Repeal of antitragling laws and laws barring certain business activities on Sunday to reduce the exposure of policemen to potentially corrupting situations.

—Relieving policemen from enforcing the laws covering construction activities, tow truck operations, bars, nightclubs and businesses. "It is ridiculous to have an armed police officer wasting his time checking restaurant washrooms to find out whether they are properly supplied with soap," the report said.

—Creation of an independent anticorruption group within the police department in which an officer might spend his entire career.

There were also recommendations for more than 30 administrative steps within the department including revision of the Civil Service laws to permit the police commissioner to punish captains, lieutenants and sergeants by reducing them a rank if found guilty of a serious charge.

Kansas Inmates Will Be Trained

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — Inmates at the Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth will be able to receive computer programming training that can lead to jobs paying $20,000 annually under an agreement reached today.

The agreement, between Federal Prison Industries, Inc. and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service provides for training of the inmates for a year and then using them to write computer programs for the ASCS data processing center in Kansas City.

All training and programming will be done within the walls of the federal prison in Leavenworth and inmates will be encouraged to seek permanent employment in the computer field after their release.

FPI Commissioner Norman A. Carlson said the agreement is "a major step forward in our effort to rehabilitate offenders by training them to become skilled and productive members of society." Carlson, who also is director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, said the program would "help us shake the stigma of prison industries that have little relevance in today's market."

ASCS administrator Kenneth E. Frick said the agreement "fills a very real employment need for our organization, and at the same time offers a promise of job opportunity and employment satisfaction to men coming out of prison."

During the first year it is expected that as many as 60 inmates will be trained as computer programmers, with many to follow the next five years.

Computer programming was started five years ago as vocational training at the prison, but this marks the first practical application. Carlson said about 40 former offenders have left Leavenworth and are working as computer programmers around the nation at salaries ranging up to $15,000.

People in the News

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is back in Washington after a weekend stay at Asateague Island, a newly found retreat on Maryland's Eastern Shore.

Nixon stayed at a beach house owned by paper company executive Thomas McCabe. It was his first weekend stay at the house, nestled among the sand dunes on the narrow, sandy island.

Former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, Florida banker C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo, and New York industrialist Robert Abplanalp joined the President.

Nixon, who went to the island Friday, returned to Washington by helicopter Sunday.

CAIRO (AP) — Yasir Arafat, leader of the Palestine Liberation Organization, has entered a hospital for a checkup.

The newspaper Al Gomhouria reported Sunday that Arafat more than a week ago was ordered to bed after suffering from something described as exhaustion while visiting in Alexandria.

Then, when he arrived in Cairo, he again entered a hospital this time for a cold, the newspaper reported.

TOKYO (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark has toured dikes in North Vietnam which were damaged by U.S. air strikes, according to the official Vietnam News Agency.

A broadcast monitored Sunday said Clark toured Phu Vang, a village in Thai Binh Province, on Aug. 3, and later told a correspondent for the Voice of Vietnam: "We visited one site yesterday where dikes had been bombed. The bombs directly hit the top of dikes. The bombing should be stopped immediately, should have never been done in the first place and should never be done again."

Clark, attorney general under President Johnson, left Washington July 24 for a two-week tour of North Vietnam at the invitation of the North Vietnamese government.

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Demetrius I, ecumenical patriarch of the Eastern Orthodox Church, has pledged to follow the "bright straight path" to Christian reunion laid down by his predecessor, Athenagoras I. Demetrius, answering questions Sunday submitted to him in writing, said that "the links with the Holy Church of Rome will be strengthened and promoted."

Demetrius, 58, succeeded Athenagoras, who died July 6. Athenagoras in his 24 years as spiritual leader of worldwide orthodox began a dialogue with the Roman Catholic Church that led to the first meeting of a Pope and a patriarch in 500 years.

Predicting the War

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird said Sunday the North Vietnamese are capable of mounting one more offensive "spectacular" this year, but predicted they would be badly beaten. He also said U.S. bombing of the North would continue until Hanoi ends its activities beyond the DMZ. Laird appeared on ABC's Issues and Answers. (UPI)

Conventions Dull, TV Producer Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Morgan, who was the producer of the "Today Show" for seven years, says that political conventions "are the dulllest show in the world."

He says "ABC decided it didn't have to cover everything from the opening gavel to the closing gavel. It just goes on with its soap operas and 'Marcus Welby' and beats the two giants hollow in the ratings."

"NBC used to have a motto, 'CBS plus 30.' That meant we had to stay on the air 30 minutes after CBS did. Some nights there wouldn't be anybody on the floor except people sweeping and picking up debris."

When he watches the conventions this year, now that he isn't working in television any more, Morgan says, "My hand automatically turns, out of loyalty or something, to NBC. But I think Walter Cronkite is the best. NBC tends to nitpick a story and expert it to death. That's all right if it's an important story—you can learn a lot. But if it isn't anything anyway, you're just led down the garden path by a lot of comments. Actually, you probably see the convention best by switching back and forth between networks."

One convention which wasn't dull from a news standpoint was 1968, with the Democrats in Chicago. Morgan was there, producing the "Today Show" out of Chicago. When he left NBC, to write a novel, his seventh, "I was settling old scores, getting even for old wounds, but the Chicago convention kept getting in the way." So that convention week, as he lived it, became the "central character" of the novel, "The Whole World Is Watching."

Morgan says he thinks some lessons were learned from the riots in Chicago. Miami allowed young people to sleep in Flamingo Park during this year's Democratic convention; Chicago wouldn't let them sleep in Grant Park. Now, at events that are potentially violent, there is no red light on the TV cameras, so that people around can't tell whether they're on. There was criticism in Chicago that some of the violence occurred because TV was there, that both police and protestors "played" for the red light of the cameras.

"I don't know whether it's just a man getting older and grouchy, but I don't think so — I don't think television news is as good as it used to be," Morgan says.

"Television news goes in cycles. After all, news is only a tiny part of a medium devoted to entertainment. And sometimes it only takes an attack like the one made by Agnew for TV news to pull back and get soft. All it takes is somebody in an administration willing to act like a bully boy, and Spiro Agnew is willing. But it isn't a partisan thing. There was no greater bully, no greater ego, than LBJ. He was either kissing you or killing you for how you made him look."

"You know every television station has to get its license renewed every year by the Federal Communications Commission, which is appointed by the President. And an administration can make it tough for a TV network other ways—tell news sources not to talk to TV reporters, make it hard for reporters to get visas, etc. It's hard to be a crusading newsman."

Campers Will Meet Here This Week

Missouri members of the National Campers and Hikers Association will host the Central West Region at a camping convention Thursday through Sunday at the Missouri State Fairgrounds in Sedalia.

Because NCHA members have actively been engaged in conservation projects and the promotion of scholarship funds for students majoring in conservation, Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has proclaimed this week as "Family Camping Week" in Missouri.

More than 1,000 families are expected to attend with their campers. They will be arriving in Sedalia from 10 states in the Central West Region, which includes the Dakotas, Minnesota, and states south to Texas.

The National Campers and Hikers Association, founded in 1954, has over 2,000 chapters totalling 65,000 family members. These camping families work for the conservation of natural resources and have a seat on the Keep America Beautiful Committee. Annual Litter Pick Up drives are a part of their effort to set examples for other users of recreation areas.

Wichita Woman Killed in Fall

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Christina Curtis, 20, fell about 3,000 feet to her death Sunday when her parachute malfunctioned on her first sport jump.

Miss Curtis, leaped from a light aircraft over a plowed field shortly after 1:30 p.m.

Witnesses told sheriff's officers after Miss Curtis' main parachute did not open fully she attempted to utilize a reserve chute. Apparently she realized too late that the main line was defective, and therefore the safety device did not open in time to break her fall, officers said.

The girl's mother and three sisters witnessed the accident. Occupants of the plane included another jumping student, Miss Curtis' father and an instructor who teaches parachute jumping at Harrison Field.

A junior at Wichita State University, Miss Curtis is survived by her father, Robert Curtis, Lansing, Ill.; her mother, Mrs. Janice Curtis, and three sisters, Sheralee, Annette and Patricia, all of Wichita.

Solid Credentials For Sargent Shriver

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sargent Shriver, who is expected to be confirmed as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee Tuesday night, carries solid political credentials even though he will be making his first bid for elective office.

The 56-year-old Shriver played a major role in the political campaign of President John F. Kennedy, was a key member of both the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, and barnstormed for Democratic congressional candidates in 1970.

It was no secret he wanted a shot at higher office, and presidential candidate George McGovern gave him the chance on Saturday by picking him to replace Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton on the Democratic ticket this fall.

Shriver brings to the ticket at least a hint of the charm associated with the Kennedy family name. He is married to the former Eunice Kennedy, eldest daughter of Joseph P. Kennedy and sister of the late president.

He worked in John F. Kennedy's 1960 campaign where he set up a civil-rights division. The late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy later credited Shriver's role with helping give the president his slim margins in some industrial states.

President Kennedy turned to Shriver to head the new Peace Corps, the job for which he is probably most remembered.

On the strength of that experience, President Lyndon B. Johnson named him to head the Office of Economic Opportunity and the War on Poverty.

Johnson next picked Shriver to be ambassador to France in March of 1968, a post he held through part of the Nixon administration, until 1970.

Shriver, a liberal, had indicated for some time that he was available for elective office. He was rumored as a potential running-mate for President Johnson in 1965. After leaving France, for a time he considered running for governor of Maryland.

And in 1970, partly to establish his party credentials, he campaigned across 35 states for Democratic congressional candidates. He then joined a Washington law firm.

He attended Yale College and Yale Law School and served in the Navy during World War II, aboard battleships and submarines, returning home a lieutenant commander.

Shriver took a job as associate editor of Newsweek magazine and moved in a social circle that included Eunice Kennedy. He later went to work for Joseph Kennedy.

He was married to Eunice Kennedy in 1953 at St. Patrick's Cathedral in a ceremony officiated by the late Francis Cardinal Spellman. The Shriver have five children, Robert III, 18; Maria, 16; Timothy, 12; Mark, 8, and Anthony, 7.

They maintain homes in Chicago, Rockville, Md., and on Cape Cod in Massachusetts.
